Brier Bushes

When you take your dogs and walk cross-country in Virginia you can still run into the old brier-bush boundary hedges. If you run into them at night when hunting it can ruin your whole night.

Uncared for neary three-quarters of a century, some of these bushes have grown big. Each is covered with small sharp needles and when you walk into one you stop instantly and try to untangle yourself without leaving a yard of skin behind. In any event, you will still have a painful memory as you patiently pick out the thorns.

History

Virginia brier bushes have a history. They are remnants of the old brier hedges that once encircled farms, divided fields and marked off boundaries in Old Virginia. Properly maintained, they were relatively cheap and maintaince free compared with split-rail fences.

Brier hedges ran for miles along creeks and ridges marking boundary lines. The farmer would plant brier plants a few feet apart. Every year the bushes put out stringers, sometimes four or five feet long, and every year someone walked both sides of the brier hedge to weave the stringers back into the hedge. In a few short years, the hedges became absolutely impenetrable. I'm quite serious. It is hard to imagine a rabbit being able to get through a well maintained hedge - much less a cow, horse, or deer - who wisely avoided them.

After the war, many unattended hedges took over the fields and required long hours to clear so the land could be put back into production. I well remember the irritating pricks and cuts clearing brier bushes.

Indian Warfare In Early Virginia

Indian warfare in Virginia was an ongoing affair from the early 1600s well into the 1800s. Intermittent warfare was interrupted by all out Indian wars every 20 years or so. There is no old Virginia family which has not lost members to the Indians - members who usually died in unbelievable ways at their hands.

All the older houses I've seen (1825 and earlier) had a great wood bar to secure the front door. The shutters were of heavy wood with firing slots. At Poplar Grove, where Dr. William Hoskins is buried, in the corner of one of the rooms stands a parapet gun - eight or nine feet tall. Most people have never seen one. This one was a flintlock, rifled, adjustable sights, about 1 inch caliber, and I was told that it could reach far beyond the usual 200-300 yards range of a rifled musket.

Household Defense

Tobacco was a Crown monopoly and Virginia's money crop. Britain paid low prices and tobacco quickly wore out the land. In Tidewater, the depleted soil required larger plantations. It took a plantation of 1,000 acres to profitably grow the plant. 1,000 acres is about a square mile. It made homes relatively distant from each other. Indians could slip down a river or over the mountains and massacre a half-dozen plantations before the alarm sounded and the mounted militia gave chase.

The main defense was the house itself, which acted as a fort. Where Indians were active, most able-bodied slaves were armed and helped in the defense. The pastures and fields that had brier-hedge rows surrounding the house presented obstacles to the Indians starting at 100-200 yards. Regular passage through the hedges was at the usual wooden gates. Dogs kept watch at night.

Unseen hedgerows often presented formidable obstacles to Indian war parties. Attackers expected a hedgerow somewhere, so when reaching one they would throw poisoned meat to the dogs and then enter at the undefended gate.

Plantation owners backed their hedge protection with dogs, and backed this up with another alarm system comprised of peacocks, African guinea hens, or both.

Peacocks are interesting. When they ruffle their feathers, lower their wings to touch the ground, spread their tails like a rainbow - and give their raucous cry, they are the most spectacular thing on the farm. However, foxes, coons, wolves and Indians found them easy prey.

Guinea hens are a different matter. They are a semi-wild bird from Africa and roost in trees near the house to be near their source of food. When someone approaches day or night they make an unbelievable racket. When I was growing up almost every farm had a few guineas and never a robbery. Everyone knew they had a visitor - expected or not.

Indian Lore

When Capt John Smith was exploring Virginia in 1608 he noted that there were seven or eight squaws to each brave. He attributed that to their constant warfare. In my experience the ratio still seems to be about the same. Indians keep to themselves. You seldom know what they are doing. They handle their differences themselves with their own laws. Others have agreed with me that there are many more Indian women than men.

There are stories about Indian day help failing to show up at their pick up-place. They never did show up. They just vanished. No one ever reported them missing and no one seemed to know what happened to them. They just disappeared.

The Beating

My son, a responsible young man, told me a story the other day. He said that this past summer he had heard that three white men were fishing and inadvertently strayed onto an Indian Reservation and set up camp for the night. During the night, a band of Indians pulled them out of their tents and beat them insensible. They had to be hospitalized.

In years past, when I passed Indians on a mountain trail, they didn't look at me or seemingly even see me. When I greeted them they either were startled or ignored me. Regardless, I did what my father told me to - I never turned my back.

In spite of having these Indian colonies in our midst for near 400 years, they keep to themselves and most Saxons know virtually nothing about them.

As part of their ongoing mind-control program, the lying media say we stole their land. Not under Indian law. When Indians left land they were living on, they could return within a year. From then on it was up for grabs. The idea of setting boundaries that guaranteed Indian land ownership on land reserved for them was a Saxon idea. Recently, this simple concept has been expanded.

Bylas Sniper

A subscriber kindly sent me a copy of the Eastern Arizona Courier, p.1, Nov 29, 2006. It contains an interesting story.

It seems that people driving through the San Carlos Indian Reservation are being shot at by snipers. Most targets involve school buses. One resulted in a leg injury of a young woman. In the most recent, Mike Bibb was in his truck on the way home from a camping trip when the driver-side window was shattered by a bullet which was shot from somewhere near the Mt. Turnbull Apache Market in Bylas. Bibb's face was cut by shards of glass blown into the cab by the bullet. All the shootings took place as the victims were passing through the Indian reservation.

This next I found most interesting.

Bylas District Councilor Jonatha Kitcheyan assured the public that the tribe is taking action to ensure the safety of travelers though his community. Kitcheyan, a member of the law and order committee, said the tribe approved the assignment of two Indian officers during weekends, but Graham County Sheriff Frank Hughes said the only way to control the situation is to allow the county jurisdiction on the reservation. The tribal chairman and council have the power to grant that request. Even if jurisdiction were to be granted, deputies and officers would have to turn over suspects to tribal courts, not state courts.

Stafford Mayor Ron Green said that he plans to attend a meeting with tribal representatives to find a way to stop the shootings.

Did you read what I read? It seems that here in the United States, Saxon mandated Indian reservations now have figurative briar bushes grown up around them. Saxons can be assaulted or killed while passing through the reservation, and if the perpetrators are caught they must be turned over to Indian authorities for prosecution under Indian Law - whatever that is.

I didn't know that Indian reservations were not under the "law of the land". Reservations have power held only by sovereign countries. It appears that it is only the tip of the iceberg.

Seminoles

In the Financial Times, p.6, 12-9/10-2006 there was another interesting story.

Seminoles of the Seminole Tribe were the first to enter the gambling industry when they opened a high-stakes bingo operation in Hollywood, Florida in 1979.

The chief executive of the tribe's casinos says that the profits from the Hard Rock chain - $34.8m last year - will be reinvested in the business, used to fund public services, and any surplus will be distributed among tribe members.

Indian Business

Today, tribal gambling revenues have soared from $5.4bn in 1995 to more than $20bn with about 360 casinos operated by 220 tribes on their self-governed reservations.

The Seminole tribe alone recently agreed to buy the Hard Rock Cafe chain from Rank Group, a British casino operator, for $965m. The deal includes more than 120 restaurants, hotels, and casinos in 45 countries. In addition, the tribe operates seven casinos in Florida including two Hard Rock franchises and draws 90% of its revenues from gambling.

Since 1992, the Winnebago tribal reservation in Nebraska has set up new businesses ranging from construction to marketing. The casinos and manufacturing businesses of the Mississippi Choctaw Indians make it the state's second-largest employer. The Salish and Kootenai tribes of Montana own a technology company, S&K Technologies, and have NASA and the USAF as customers. These last named customers put the Indians' businesses in the big time.

Since Indians are Esau, and Esau deals in deception, we must look for something similar on the other side of the world to help our understanding.

Oil & New Billionaires

A few years ago, a handful of semi-nomads in Saudi Arabia were allowed to take over the multi-billion dollar oil producing business that belonged to U.S. interests. At the time a regiment of marines could have stopped it - if the ITC wanted it stopped. But that wasn't the plan.

Saudi Arabia is supposedly a sovereign country although its puppet rulers were appointed by the WWI victors over the Ottoman Empire who was the previous owner. Still, the ones who made these Arabs rulers of Saudi Arabia were also aware that they were also children of Islam, and that the land they were given to rule would be protected by all the traditional laws and customs that go with being a sovereign country. What it does with its new oil wealth behind closed doors is its own business.

Saudi Arabia was one of the weakest, most defenseless countries in the world. It had few people, was dirt poor - and its few people were the most fanatical of all Islamic peoples.

The income from the oil industry that the U.S. gave them furnished Saudi Arabia with a massive cash flow which they could use to fund radical Islamic movements world-wide - or fund anything else they wanted to. As stated before, since they were an independent nation they could spend their bushel baskets of money anywhere they liked.

We know about Saudi Arabia allegedly furnishing most of the 9/11 participants. But there is more:

Chase

A report filed with the SEC, Apr 22, 1991, reveals that the Saudis at that time held for themselves or held for someone else, over 5% of Chase Manhattan Bank. This was the second largest Saudi investment made since the war. The largest was a $590 million "investment" in Citibank.

This very probably gives effective control of these two banks to that group. There are constantly stories in the Wall Street Journal of other banks being bought by foreigners - who own the media - who own the minds of their viewers.

Back To the American Indian Thing

It stands to reason that the rulers of the government of the United States favor granting Indian Reservations sovereign state status just as was done with Saudi Arabia - or they would not have done so.

These new sovereign American-Indian states, provided with a gambling income that is more than enough to satisfy a great many of the countries of the world, all hidden by their national sovereignty from the prying eyes of outsiders, could become every bit a source of mischief that Saudi Arabia is today.

National sovereignty is a powerful thing. Israeli criminals flee to the Israeli state for safety and protection. What is to keep Indian criminals from fleeing to Indian reservations for the same protection? Or, to protect other Saxon enemies?

Actually, they have the potential to become even more of a source of mischief than this; they are tucked away and protected in the heart of America. What sort of protected wheeling-and-dealing are they doing with other nations under the cloak of their American- Indian sovereignty?

Briar Hedges

Saudi Arabians and American Indians are growing a type of briar hedge which is virtually impenetrable according to International Admiralty rules - the "national sovereignty" hedge.

Saxons, too, have a different kind of briar hedge that kept wolves outside. It is called the WORD.

This hedge, once impenetrable to enemies, has been long neglected and has wild stringers growing all over the place. Gaps now allow predators to wander through as they please.

But things are changing. Already there are guinea hens sitting on tree limbs screaming their heads off at approaching predators. Already there are workers frantically grasping wild stringers and weaving them back into the hedge - to make the sheepfold impenetrable. Already there are those complaining about prickly briars and unfairness to wolves.

The time is approaching when willing hands will re-weave the last stringer back into the hedge and the Sheepfold will be secure. Then will be time to tend to the wolves in our midst.

SADDAM HUSSEIN HANGED

The leaders of the US invaded one more country, Iraq, a country with which they had no quarrel. They have destroyed its cities, killed and maimed hundreds of thousands of its people, used nuclear waste ammunition leaving the land contaminated, and for a finishing touch - hanged its president. Death, starvation, misery, disease and dishonor - the legacy of the rulers of the United States.

Is this a "mis-calculation"- an accident? I hope it is - just as I hope that Ruby Ridge, Waco, Oklahoma City, and the Towers were accidents. If not, we must assume that these executions are part of an ongoing plan.

The unprovoked Iraqi War has stripped the US of the friends it once had. Now, when the alien invaders pouring into our country begin a civil war to force us to live under their Gods and their laws - there are none who will come to our aid.

If the ball is truly in play, further acts of mayhem can be expected. This will truly be the Hindu Age of Kaliyuga. The choice will be clear: In the future we will serve Kali- Christ,<sup>1</sup> or we will serve Christ-The-WORD.<sup>2</sup>

LETTER FROM S. AFRICA by K.J.

Dear Mr. Hoskins: The number of Indians coming in can be seen by shops catering to their tastes - all different curries etc.

We have become the world's market place as Dr. D. F. Malan predicted at the Voortrekker Monument's inauguration in 1948 when he said choose this day if you want a Christian country or a democracy.

1 The Hindu Puranas teach: Apocalypse for the Hindu is the natural ending of the world in the fourth age, the present Kali Age. Kali the central figure - the Destroyer God - must destroy life on earth before Vishnu can bring in the new Kalki age of peace.

2 "Very early, Christianity was conceived to be a new system of law, and faith was interpreted as obedience." The Encyclopedia Britannica, 14th Edition, Vol 5, p. 635.

When Vorster took over it happened. We lost everything that identifies us as Western Christians. DeKlerk was the final pawn. Having no scruples, he signed our freedom away in exchange for honors and money.

Our electricity is most unreliable, blackouts every day. Squatters recently cut down about seven telephone poles and took the cable to sell leaving us without a telephone - again. The one white technician got us back on line in a day. When he was sick it took a whole horde of blacks a week to repair the line after a single pole was cut.

Even placing them underground doesn't protect the line. They simply cut both ends and pull the cable out of the pipe with a small truck.

We called Chris, the young white policeman at the local police station, but this has been going on so often that I do not think we will have the land line working soon or the criminals caught. No wonder business firms use satellite dishes in the rest of Africa. Nearly every second day our phone is out because of poles being cut.

The black way of solving a problem is to put up a sign. When a pot-hole appears in the road, up goes a sign warning motorists not to drive into the pot-hole. When a carjacking occurs - a sign goes up warning motorists not to get hijacked.

F.W. DeKlerk was our last white president and the greatest traitor of them all. He was upset when P.W. Botha told a Dutch reporter how he sold us out to barbarians. When Willie Marias wanted to know where all the money was coming from that DeKlerk was flashing about, he threatened to sue.

DeKlerk threatens to sue every time something happens - like when his youngest son was seen with a coloured girl, or, when questioned how his wife Marike happened to be murdered by intruders when he was away with the Greek woman, or, when his son actually married the coloured woman.

This thick skinned man and his new Greek wife even turned up at P.W. Botha's funeral, although he knew the Botha family's feelings toward him. He was wise enough to leave the instant the service was over.

One day he will have to account for the thousands of whites who have died cruel deaths because of him, and others who lost their jobs because of affirmative action. And last, he certainly will have to answer for betraying his own God-fearing people into the hands of barbarians who follow witch-doctors.

A Mozambician with inside help escaped C-Max in Pretoria Prison. He was charged with more than 62 counts of murder and rape. Can you imagine!

It is estimated that at least 1,500-2,000 blacks die every day from AIDS combined with TB. This will certainly have an effect on our nation's future. Still, last month 700 whites left the country for Australia.

And last, we have two Dachshunds - ladies of the manor - only the best for them. I understand that you have a new Rottweiler puppy - that gives you four. With prices soaring here, I'm glad you have to feed them instead of us.

Yours faithfully, K.J.

WAR II?: "How many Canadians know that Russian forces have attacked Canadian Forces helicopters with lasers in an attempt to blind the pilots and cause them to crash?" (Mccleans Canada; THE WEEK p.16, Dec 22, 2006)

RKH: Kings stay in power by protecting us from an enemy. Kings are aided by followers of Kali who encourage war and destruction in order to rebuild the ruins. We remember that the Bolsheviks who destroyed Russia and murdered millions came from America. From that time, Russia became an American satellite just as America is a puppet of the ITC. No shot is fired anywhere without permission.

SLAVE TRADE: The slave trade is now the third largest type of illegal trade in the world, after drugs and weapons, according to the U.S. State Department. Between 600,000 and 800,000 people are trafficked across national borders each year ... with up to 17,500 of them entering the U.S. (Story in THE WEEK, p.11, Dec 15, 2006)

GOODWILL: Pope Benedict XVI, in September quoted a 14th-century characterization of Islam as an 'evil and inhuman' faith with a natural tendency to violence. Benedict reversed his position last week when he said that Turkey should be granted entry to the European Union. (WEEK p. 3, Dec 8, 2006)

RKH: No imperial episcopacy, Protestant, Catholic, or State - can admit that Jacob-Israel really didn't vanish suddenly without trace - something that no nation has done before or since. Such an admission would destroy their own authority to create kings, monopolies, tax, incorporate aliens into the state, and make prison-slaves of their own people.

The notable exception was Queen Victoria who loudly proclaimed that her ancestry traced back to Jacob-Israel and told it to the world. Of course, Britain's real rulers hushed the matter as soon as she died. One can imagine what would happen if suddenly Saxon- Israel should awake one morning and realize that God's WORD is true - that they really are the people chosen by God to rule by God's Law - and are to be held responsible and punished for not doing so.

BLAME: An article in The NY Times Magazine by Helen Epstein blames the chaos in S. Africa on the following: "In the 19th century, European settlers built railways, mines and cities and coerced millions of young men to work for them, forcing them to leave their families behind in their villages for months or years at a time. White settlers appropriated much of the most fertile land, and the black populations that remained in rural areas became increasingly dependent on remittances from migrant workers," and "the destabilization of the southern African family by the upheavals of apartheid."

A couple of details were left out of the above article. When Whites arrived in S. Africa there were almost no blacks living there. When White Afrikaners moved north into the Transvaal and Freestate there were almost no Blacks there either - they had slaughtered each other or had starved in their self-imposed Diffacane. The land was mostly vacant. To develop the gold and diamond mines Blacks were brought in by the hundreds of thousands by the Jewish owners and managers. Now, most of the Jews have left and their media are blaming the Whites for the mess the Jewish owners created and left behind.

HI-TECH ASSASSINATION: An American built Israeli helicopter piloted by an Israeli pilot firing American built rockets killed the local Islamic leader of the Aqsa Martyrs Brigades, a 2nd Palestinian and seriously wounded a third in a refugee camp outside Nabus.

RKH: The US puppet government promotes this type of warfare. It provides the equipment. The resulting misery usually creates a desire for peace allowing the easy installation of strong ITC puppet governments which administer international Admiralty Law.

Chapter 389

LITTLE BOY BLUES

Indians & Saxons

Saxons from England landed in Virginia in 1607 and encountered American Indians. The relationship between the two was hostile from the first. Their law systems were polar opposites and instantly clashed when one tried to enforce his law over the other.<sup>1</sup>

English Law

Complicating matters further, the English Saxon law system was at odds with itself; there was the episcopal "law of the land" whose head was the king of England. This was the ancient Law that had been modified to allow him, his government, and his church to control the people, their land, and their property. He granted privileges to his favorites in lands under his rule. It was his monopoly. The crown's appetite for "more and still more" was insatiable. Enforced by a standing army and his own appointed aristocracy to whom he granted privileges, he had loyal enforcers for his decrees. The "king's wish" was the "law of the land". It still is.

In opposition were reform-minded Puritans who had grown up within the king's Anglican Church but who wanted to do away with the king's modified law and return to the WORD.

This meant doing away with the rule from the top down episcopacy and obeying the Law of the WORD. They said they spoke only of the ecclesiastical episcopacy, but the king's logic recognized the danger: If the religious episcopacy that had been created were abolished, it would only be a matter of time before they would try to abolish the office of king itself. Puritans were potential enemies of the state and were treated as such.

The result of these two systems in Virginia produced a Saxon nation where the governor was appointed by the king and charged with enforcing the king's modified law, and on the other hand were a great many Anglican/Puritans who wanted to conform to Biblical Law. From the very first, the clash of the two law systems produced a contentious colony often verging on civil war.

The thing that held them together was the Indian menace that produced a major Indian war every 20 years or so interspersed by ongoing massacres of individuals and families.<sup>1</sup>

Indian Law In Virginia

The Indian law system was driven by perpetual war between themselves or with the colonists. The objective was to appease their bloodthirsty God, Okie, who constantly demanded pain and blood from human or animal sacrifices. This produced a hostile Indian presence fragmented into countless semi-independent tribes at war with each other every summer. During the occasional periods of Indian peace, the sacrifices needed to appease Okie were obtained from the newly arrived Saxons who objected strongly. The first Thanksgiving wasn't held to promote the brotherhood of man - it was held in Virginia in 1615 thanking God for preserving them from the Indians.

Saxon Militia

In theory, Virginia was protected by the Governor's 400 or so royal marines at Jamestown. In fact, the Colony's western frontier was protected by 40,000 mounted militia who elected their own leaders, furnished their own weapons and supplies, and drilled monthly. This was the backbone of Virginia's defense. They were good at protecting themselves, their families and, incidentally, the royal governor at Jamestown.

Indian Trade Controversy

The King declared that the Indian fur trade was a royal monopoly. To keep this trade from being interrupted, the governor refused to punish those Indians guilty of committing massacres of Virginian colonists. Some of the worst offenses took place around the frontier town of Richmond.

In exasperation, the militias elected a leader, Nathaniel Bacon, who fought and defeated the Indians. This stopped the massacres and, incidentally, it stopped the fur-trade. Bacon and his followers were outlawed by the Governor.

The Governor split the loyalties of Bacon's followers by promising them the land and properties of those rebels who were caught and hanged.

This, plus being backed by the rest of the British Empire, resulted in the suppression of Bacon's Rebellion in a series of bloody, bloody executions. But, the Virginia militia survived because it was needed for the survival of the colony and it continued in existence. However, the differences between the tyrannical rule of the crown and those who wanted to live by the WORD remained.

Birth Of The Blues

As mentioned before, the militia elected its own officers. In official correspondence, to distinguish between a regular British army "captain" in his red coat and a "captain" of the Virginia militia, the term "Militia Captain" or "Captain of the Blues" was used. For formal affairs, the regulars wore their red uniforms and Virginians wore blue ones. The name "Blues" stuck.

Among the blues, the Richmond fall-line militia was among the most active in the colony and as the town grew the militia became known as the "Richmond Blues". Later, when they adopted the rifled-musket and trained in the light-infantry tactics necessary for the use of that weapon, they became known as the "Richmond Light Infantry Blues" - the official name was received in 1789, although their history goes back to 1632. They were known then as the 1st Virginia Regiment. They were well-trained, well-disciplined, and formed the backbone of countless military operations against Virginia's enemies.

At the time of the Revolutionary War, the Blues were designated the 1st Virginia Regiment and were the first to go on active duty from Virginia. My ancestor Robert Hoskins was a member. My father belonged when he attended the Medical College of Virginia before WWI. When I lived in Richmond, I joined because it was expected. I can't tell you the feeling you had when you answered roll call in that regiment. The Richmond Light Infantry Blues was recognized as the oldest American military organization in continuous service in the country. Like youngsters everywhere - we thought our regiment invincible.

Battle Streamers

Battle streamers on a regimental flag are a relatively recent addition. The oldest streamer on the Blues flag was won fighting under Gen. George Washington during the French & Indian wars - although there had been many, many battles before then.

Over the years, I've served in regiments that had two, eight, and even twelve battle streamers. The Blues flag had so many battle streamers that they faced in every direction of the compass in order to make room for them all.

Little Boy Blues

When Virginia was invaded during the War Between The States, the Blues again marched off to war as the 1st Virginia - leaving Richmond defenseless.

To take their place, a home militia was formed of the sons of the men who had marched away - boys from about 8 to 13 or 14 years of age. There were also a few old men and a handful of walking wounded from the local hospitals who furnished the discipline and leadership. Since the vast majority were children, they were called the "Little Boy Blues." Their duty was to defend Richmond.

Dahlgren's Raid

Lee was fighting Grant south of Richmond at Petersburg. This left Richmond defenseless from the north. A yankee, Col. Dahlgren, devised a plan to form a strike force comprised of selected mounted troopers to make a lightning attack on Richmond from Washington. The plan was to storm Richmond before Lee could bring up troops to defend the city, free the Union prisoners held at Belle Island and Castle Thunder, kill the members of the Confederate government and burn the town.<sup>2</sup>

All went according to plan. His ride from Washington was breath-takingly fast and Richmond's steeples were in sight.

Going To The Blue's Ball

Blues in uniform going to some function or other about Richmond were once a common sight. To have fun on a hot summer day I opened the sun-top and let my shako and plume show through. A photographer at the Richmond Times Dispatch took this photo.

The interesting thing is that the AP sent the picture world wide instantly. People were kind enough to send me copies from all over the US, Europe, and the Orient. At that time I did not know that the world's media were basically one entity and in instant communication with all its parts. This was new information.

Suddenly, his column was halted by the sight of a line of battle across the road where there weren't supposed to be one. He rode forward and through his binoculars saw a line of children standing at attention with rifles taller than they were. He and his staff laughed, formed his cavalry into line and charged.

Rifled muskets are heavy. The Little Boy Blues could hold them in firing position only briefly. They waited at attention with rifle butts on their shoulders and muzzles resting on the ground until the thundering mass of charging men and horses were 15 yards away when the command "present" was given; the rifles rose followed instantly by the order - "fire!"

The volley at such close range blew away the attacking line leaving a carnage of thrashing horses and dead and dying men, Col. Dahlgren lay among them.

The remnant of Dahlgren's command rapidly retreated and attempted to reach Federal gunboats in the James. They camped for the night at a crossroads in King and Queen County on the other side of Richmond, at a place now known as "Dahlgren's Corner".

During the night, the boys' and old men's militia of King & Queen surrounded the remnant of Dahlgren's command. They crawled as close as they could without being seen and lay still in the brush waiting for sunrise. Their orders were not to move - let the enemy come to them - within five paces - then shoot them.

Dawn arrived and the Union troopers began to stir and walk around. As they unknowingly walked up to the boys lying in the brush - shots rang out. Chaos reigned. There was no visible enemy. Men ran back and forth - wherever they went they ran into an ambush. Men fell by the score. A handful surrendered.

Dahlgren's raid on Richmond is just one more thing the Cartel media only touches on in passing - children fighting and giving their lives to defend their homes, sisters and mothers from savage invaders. Union soldiers later returned in force and burned King & Queen County in retaliation, including the old Court House with its priceless centuries-old records. The old men, women and children were left homeless and many died from exposure.<sup>3</sup>

Short Apology

I lived in Richmond in the mid-50s in the middle of everything but knew next to nothing.. I didn't know what "man" meant. I didn't know what "Saxon" meant. I didn't know about the International Trade Cartel, I didn't know about Jews being Khazar-Turks who were converted to Judaism; I didn't know that Saxon's could be bought and become "Janissaries" (Turkish for "white slaves"); I didn't know that my people were engaged in an ancient ongoing war between Jacob and Esau. It wasn't until 28 April 1965 that I accepted the WORD. Its teachings gradually brought reality. I learned that most of our Christian priests, kings, and great-merchants are Janissaries, and that both the money and the media are Turk monopolies. I just didn't know these things. My ignorance will in measure explain many of my mistakes over the years.

Little Boy Blues - Again

Since I was a member of the Blues, I thought it would be a good idea to revive the Little Boy Blues. I talked to the colonel of the regiment and he agreed that it was a good idea. He gave me the job.

The sons of members of the regiment eagerly signed up and soon I had more than sixty boys meeting every week at the Blues armory to drill. The help promised never arrived and I had to plan, drill, discipline, transport and all the things required. I obtained 136 rifled muskets model 1876 for the boys to drill with. With little effort I believe that the Boy Blues could have grown into a battalion. It was a perfect place to teach them the values of Virginia and her history.

Personally, I stayed absolutely exhausted for weeks on end, and there was always some extra job or expense involved. When my job on Wall Street opened up it was my salvation. Unfortunately, the Boy Blues project collapsed. It was time to move on.

Lessons Learned

While working with the Boy Blues, I ran across two exceptional young boys. One was an intellectual - absolutely invaluable. But the boys would not follow him. The second was a natural leader, looked up to and respected by the others - but an intellectual he wasn't. In due time, the boys elected him their captain and I persuaded him to appoint the intellectual to be his adjutant. It made a perfect team. I also discovered that, with a few missteps, the boys were instinctively capable of selecting leaders that would serve them best.

The main thing I learned is that a big job like organizing requires careful planning, a great deal of help, and money. As it was, I found that everything that I went to so much trouble to do was later done by writing a little book, Our Nordic Race. In this way, the history and heritage of our people could be passed on and reach far more people with far less time and effort. The Little Boy Blues was a valuable learning experience.

There was something else I learned:

Constitution Party

About the same time as I was working with the Little Boy Blues, I also made a tentative step into politics. In the '50s there was one political party in Virginia - the Democratic Party. And it had left a bad taste after J. Lindsey Almond was elected governor and, in violation of his word-of-honor, turned the state's schools over to the Feds - for which deed he received an appointment as a federal judge. He was a Janissary who came cheap.

The Democratic Party always applauded Col. Earnest Sevier Cox when he spoke to the Legislature asking for financing for the blacks of the African Colonization Society who wanted to return to Africa - and there were thousands and thousands of them who wanted to go. The legislature applauded. but never gave help. Even back then, unknown to the people, Virginia's Legislature as a whole had been compromised. So, with the irrepressible optimism of youth, I decided to form a political party myself and take 'em all on.

It was easy. All my old friends from the Defenders and everyone disillusioned with the Democratic Party joined. We called it the Constitution Party. Forty or fifty of us met and since I called the first meeting I was elected temporary chairman - that's what people do.

We reactivated some of Richmond's old Defenders' "block organizations" and soon we had several hundred attending meetings and we were growing every meeting. Anyone who walked in was a member. I appointed several committee heads to start projects and things were humming. We were beginning to take over where the Defenders had left off.

A charming young couple from Sandston, who were more conservative and outspoken than Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson combined stood and asked if we could have a special meeting just to vote for president. Sounded fine to me.

Who wants to attend a meeting just to vote and go home? It's time consuming and expensive. The night to vote arrived and only a handful of my old friends came and a lot of new people who were friends of the super-conservative couple appeared. They voted me out and voted a millionaire from northern Virginia to be chairman. He transferred the headquarters to Northern Virginia and folded the Constitution Party in a few months. That's how it's done. I had a lot to learn.

Learning More

I learned several things more. First, politics is a closed club that protects and advances business. It is not to be treated lightly. They have big money available to meet most eventualities and any number of hired Janissaries available who will do anything they are told - anything!

Second, a person's announcement that they are liberal or conservative and 50 cents will get you a cup of coffee. You judge a person by what they do - not by what they say. I learned later that that nice conservative couple had at various times joined other conservative endeavors and had caused their demise each time. Live and learn.

A third thing I learned was that in spite of everything, once our Constitution Party seemed to be making progress, the media blacked us out. Any organization that intends on reaching the public must have a means of reaching the public if they intend to counter the poison that flows from the establishment media. A newsletter or newspaper is needed and a mailing list. Both are essential.

Davis & Gresham

When I finished my Wall Street training at old Francis I. Dupont, I was sent to manage stock portfolios in my old hometown, Lynchburg.

Lynchburg was like most medium sized cities in the South. It was basically conservative but had a liberal newspaper that advertised liberal candidates for office. That is why conservative Lynchburg had a liberal city council - except for two members.

I soon found out how these two kept being elected year after year in the face of liberal media bias.

Two of my old friends from Defenders days were responsible. Each had a small circle of friends and each of the two were good at writing letters - that others signed and mailed in. When the newspaper called and asked if they had sent the letter - the answer was "yes" - which was true. So, to keep the newspaper readers happy and subscribing - they were printed. Of course, Davis and Gresham were successful at their jobs and if a few dollars extra were needed - the two chipped in. Their system worked for many years and gave Lynchburgers a voice in an otherwise alien city government.

Concerned Citizens' Committee

Roy Dillard and I tried the same thing later. We set up something called "The Concerned Citizens' Committee" - fancy name. We announced to the newspaper that we were holding a mass meeting at the old Virginian Hotel. The night of the meeting arrived and all those in Lynchburg who were interested were present. Roy and I. Otherwise it was an empty meeting room.

This suited us. A civic mass-organization of two. We then sent an announcement to the newspaper that at the mass-meeting we agreed to support the best candidates for office regardless of party. That was a novel idea - the newspaper printed it.

Bridge Burners

Since the newspaper had mentioned our CCC organization, Roy and I went about interviewing candidates - and found that most were simply ego-maniacs who would say anything for a vote. We asked "bridge burning questions," Their answer was designed to make somebody mad - which burned a bridge.

Things like:

Do you plan on honoring Robert E. Lee by having the city fly Confederate Flags on his birthday?

"Yes" got the white vote and lost the black bloc vote. "No" lost the white vote and got the black bloc vote.

A "refusal to answer" lost all the way around. (Today it would be "Will you sponsor legislation to send illegals home?")

Pretending neutrality, we gave the newspaper the list of our choices - which they did not print - they were getting wise - but it didn't make any difference.

We bought alphabet stencils from an art store, a can of black spray paint, some cardboard posters, and sticks to nail the posters to. We pasted the stencils together with scotch tape listing the candidates names, spraypainted them onto the cardboard posters, and tacked them to the poles. It only cost a few dollars and took a couple of hours.

The result was a short list of candidates (some were only the best of a bad lot) and then we went out to find workers to hold the signs at the polls.

Our choices of candidates might include Democrat, Republican and Independent - all in one election. Our motto - "Vote the Straight Split Ticket".

It was no problem getting people to carry them at the polls. We were neutral - remember? Most of our volunteers had no idea who the candidates were - they were just doing their civic duty by working the polls. Lots of businesses let their workers off to do this civic work. We also had little cards printed to hand to voters with the candidate's "for" or "against" record so they wouldn't forget when they went into the voting booths.

After several elections people began coming over to our sign holders for a voting card before going in to vote. Most had no idea who was running for office but because we did our homework they trusted us. We elected at least one state senator, several members of the House of Delegates, and were the swing-vote in the election of several congressmen.

Results

The political parties didn't like us, neither did the newspaper, but they were polite. The "burn your bridges" type of questions we asked kept a number of otherwise highly educated bad actors out of politics. We folded the CCC and went our own ways when it appeared that Lynchburg was largely governed by conservatives. Would that were so today.

Two Or Three

In my life I have had many failures and some successes. I learned from the WORD the correct way to organize:

"For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." Mt 18:20

Only two or three - ruled by the WORD. That's all. It doesn't take a thousand or a million to accomplish something. I once saw between 10,000 to 15,000 farmers gather together in Kansas in 1985 to protest what was being done to them. There had been no organization by two or three and they went away as unorganized as they came - and so disheartened that the farmers of America never did organize.

But on many occasions I have seen "two or three" gathered in the name of the WORD and success followed.

Two or three working as God's agents can accomplish wonderful things. Sharing ideas, methods, and means - plans can come together that can shake the world. Just two or three. The rest is detail.

It's the LAW!

Letter From S. Africa by K.J.

Both of our alarm systems were burnt out by a lightning strike. We lack maintenance workers and still do not have a working alarm system 3 weeks later.

Since the Hindus have arrived in force, for some sort of religious reason they have this thing about crackers - which they sell to the blacks. The blacks eat crackers and beat on their drums all night long frightening the animals.

As you know, Afrikaners observe the Day of the Covenant at which time the Covenant is read. That was when we promised God that if He would save our little party of 464 settlers from the 20,000 bloodthirsty Zulu army, that we would observe the day forever.

This observance has upset the blacks who were there as guests of General Opperman. The Covenant really had nothing to do with Blacks. The few servants that the Voortrekkers had never took the vow, only the 466 men who fought at Blood River and their descendants forever.

We heard from a few people that a Dutch Reform Church minister will not allow the vow to be read in his church. The church district denies everything now, but people tell you they are not surprised since the DR Church finds homosexual marriages acceptable. The Bible is a closed book for them. Neither do they find naked tattooed women a sin.

Mbeki spoke on Devil's Black Hill. He had much to say about the whites and blamed them for everything that has gone wrong since 1994.

Racial separation died with Dr. H.F. Verwoerd's assassination in 1966. Vorster, who swore he was pro-white, stepped in Verwoerd's shoes and did his best to destroy separation. He told Ian Smith of Rhodesia that he hated apartheid. In the Verwoerd era, the country flourished. Everyone had work, food and prospects. Now blacks rule and there is deterioration everywhere.

Crime attacks on farms have spread to the towns and cities using the same methods. Most people in town complexes used to tell us that they were perfectly safe with their electronic gadgets and guards. Well, the criminals learned quickly how the alarm gadgets worked and the guards were soon bribed. One couple I know never closed their front door and had no arms to protect themselves. All that has changed. Making matters worse, when judges are black, justice is often measured depending on whether you are black or white.

Everything is being done to destroy our farmers. I see young farmers go and work in America as season workers. I believe the same people did that earlier to your own American farmers.

Our best wishes, K.J.

FAD: Dear Richard; Black Haitian orphans are all the rage in churchdom here in Alberta. They like to adopt them and bring them into the white community. A family of good Norwegian stock who have five children of their own have so far adopted 3 Haitian orphans. REFUGEES: "Dear Dick & Ann; We are moving to Knoxville next summer. Very sad here in N.E. Ohio as de-industrialization reduces the area to a coolie economy. Our Christian Academy will no doubt close next year - lack of enrollment. Other private schools share the same fate. Even the Catholics! They do a bit better due to Bingo proceeds. However, evangelization fervor for Asians, Indians and those from New Guinea is hot as the ministers bring them in for donations every 2 weeks. You really wonder when Israelites will ever wake up.

Chapter 390

LAND OFFSHORE INDUSTRY CROSSBOWS

Cousin Mary Edwina's Story

Cousin Mary Edwina was maybe 65 but looked 30. She was one of those ageless beauties - tall, dark brown hair, blue eyes, patrician nose, graceful figure, quiet; when she spoke the room fell silent to hear what she was saying. She never went to school but spoke Latin and French and knew history and mathematics. Her parents taught her.

Never having gone to school caused her problems when she went to work for the civil service in Washington. But, she was promoted to the highest levels in spite of not going to school. Quietly, she stood out in any company in which she found herself.

Deserted Houses

Her father was a lot older than her mother and had been a member of the Black Horse Cavalry. He died when she was about 12. She and her mother lived on the north side of the Rapidan, one of the upper branches of the Rappahannock River, in a farmhouse built about 1870 replacing the one burned during the War.

Behind her house the fields gradually went down for a half-mile to the Rapidan. On the other side of the river were bluffs on which were fine houses. They were furnished but deserted - and this was after the War. Mary Edwina used to play in them as a young girl. The lawns and gardens were grown up. The owners had deserted both houses and land and moved out west after the War when the black Reconstruction Government made it almost impossible to make a living on farms.

The Crossbow

Cousin Mary Edwina started working for the government in Washington when she was maybe 18 in order to support her mother in Culpeper County. Much later she went to New York to sell insurance. She was good at it. She flew coast to coast to see clients - the first person I ever knew who did that.

I think I was fourteen and was sent to New York so that she could teach me about the city. She took me to a museum where she knew the curator. He appreciated our interest in medieval weapons and he took us to the basement of the museum to show us how a crossbow worked.

Mary Edwina Coons (1902-1984)
Born Culpeper County, Virginia. Never married. A victim of Esau's land and industry warfare against Jacob.

I had always considered a cross-bow to be a poor cousin of the English longbow. The exhibition changed my mind. The curator took a piece of period chest armor that was perfectly sound in front but badly rusted in places in back and slipped it over a sandbag. He used a crossbow that had to be cranked up and inserted a "bolt". The bolt was a metal "arrow" that had a square tip. To guide the bolt after it left the crossbow were narrow ribbons tied in back.

From the other side of the room, perhaps 40 feet or more away, the curator shot at the armor. The bolt went through the front armor, through the sand bag, through the back armor and stopped when it hit the wall behind.

I changed my mind about crossbows. Its performance was beyond anything I imagined. Anyone within range could get hurt. The curator said that the kind he was using was dangerous at a thousand yards.

I'll come back to this directly.

Land

One of the most important Laws in THE WORD deals with land. The Law says:

"The land shall be divided by lot: according to the names of the tribes of their fathers they shall inherit." Nu 26:55; "The land shall not be sold for ever: for the land is mine; ... If thy brother be waxen poor, and hath sold away some of his possession ... in the jubilee ... he shall return unto his possession." Lev 25:23, 28; "The priests ... shall have no part no inheritance with Israel. ... The Lord is their inheritance." Deu. 18:1-2

The Land-Law is simple. Read it again. It says the land belongs to God. He gave it to Adam-man who was named Jacob-Israel. It is to be divided among them and this land is never to be sold or given away - to priests, kings, merchants, or anyone else. There is a reason for this Law.

William The Conqueror

Great Britain was mostly settled by Saxons and Vikings who divided the land and organized themselves by 10s and 100s. William the Conqueror arrived from France with an army, conquered the forces opposing him, and claimed possession of all the land in the country. One day free men lived as free men on their own land; the next they were serfs on the king's land.<sup>1</sup>

To rule his newly conquered land, William appointed counts over counties, barons over districts, and commanded them to build castles to prevent a revolt of the people. Great Britain is full of castles. It still is - just as America is full of military bases - and for the same reason. When you own the land you own those who live on the land.

Bankrupting Farmers

As part of their plan, the International Trade Cartel instructed their governments to make things difficult for American farmers and force them to surrender their land. They taxed them. They brought in cheap labor to compete with them. Then, they imported cheap food produced by their foreign corporate farms and dumped it into the country at prices well below American farm production costs.

Only a few years ago, the government sent its agents to tell farmers to buy more land and produce more to lower costs. Farmers obeyed this advice. They borrowed money and bought more land. Then, cartel banks raised interest rates to nearly 20%, and farms bankrupted all over the country and were immediately taken over by banks and other corporate owners. I was asked to speak at the great farm rally in Nebraska in 1985 where there was talk of a farmers' revolt.

<sup>1</sup> William's father was a viking, and William is either a direct ancestor or a close kinsman of all Saxons. The thing to remember is that regardless of kinship - no man can be trusted with great power or wealth. That includes you and me - much less the aliens and their puppets who rule us today.

There was no revolt and most American farms quietly passed into the hands of corporate owners.

Karl Marx On Farms

The following comments on land come from The Controversy of Zion by Douglas Read, Noontide Press, Newport Beach, CA, 1985. p. 219

"Next, Karl Marx. The Protocols say, 'The aristocracy of the peoples, as a political force, is dead ... but as landed proprietors they can still be harmful to us from the fact that they are self-sufficing in the resources upon which they live. It is essential therefore for us at whatever cost to deprive them of their land ... At the same time we must intensively patronize trade and industry ... what we want is that industry should drain off from the land both labor and capital and by means of speculation transfer into our hands all the money of the world ...'

"Karl Marx in his Communist Manifesto exactly followed this formula. True he declared that Communism might be summed up in one sentence, 'abolition of private property', but subsequently he qualified this dictum by restricting actual confiscation to land and implying that other types of private property were to remain intact. (In the later Marxist event, of course, all private property was confiscated, but I speak here of the strict parallel between the strategy laid down before the event alike by the Protocols and Marx)."

Destroying the Southern Farm System

From its beginning, the South's economy was based on the self-sufficient farm.<sup>2</sup> British surrogates of the International Trade Cartel tried twice to destroy it and failed. The Federals succeeded.

Hunter came down the Valley. He burned as he came. He burned the town of Lexington, then south to Liberty City (Bedford) which is twenty miles west of Lynchburg, and burned it.

Turning east, his advance was heralded by great clouds of smoke from burning homes, barns, and fields. The smoke dimmed the sunlight as it was brought to Lynchburg on prevailing westerlys. Early's boys caught Hunter's soldiers torching Grace Inn up the road from where I live and shot them all. The scorched floor in the corner of the dining room was where the fire was put out. Most houses weren't so fortunate.

Sheridan burned Valley farms - thousands of them - long after the Valley had been occupied by Union troops. It was Cartel policy. It is what their agents do. Sherman burned the farms of Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina. The one who gave him authorization is now a national Cartel hero and has a memorial in Washington.

When they finished destroying the farms, the Cartel dis-franchised the surviving whites and installed blacks to rule them<sup>3</sup> and left Federal garrisons to see that the blacks weren't

2 On a self-sufficient-farm, almost everyone raised their own food in perhaps a third of a year. The remainder of the year was spent making improvements or with cottage industry, whose products were used or traded to another for needed items.

3 "Thou mayest not set a stranger (Heb: zûwr - racial alien) over thee, which is not thy brother." Deu 17:15; "Their nobles shall be of themselves, and their governor shall proceed from the midst of them." Jer 30:21" removed. The forts are still here, garrisoned, and renamed after Southern generals to make the conquest more agreeable.

The South dates the birth of its cities from this time. Before then, other than small trade centers and a few larger ports to load and ship goods, Virginia had no cities worthy of the name. The present-day city of Roanoke was then a crossroads named "Big Lick". Here in Lynchburg, starving farmers brought their families to town to live on Cotton Hill and work for starvation wages in plants brought from New England where workers became unemployed because of the new supply of cheap Southern labor. The South no longer produced its Tom Jeffersons, Patrick Henrys and George Washingtons. Self-sufficient-farms that gave them independence had become few. I sat beside farm boys who had walked barefoot through the snow to get to school. Bewildered northern students who came to Lynchburg with their families knew absolutely nothing of what we had been through. They didn't believe the stories we told them and their parents said that we got what we deserved.

South Africa

S. Africa was settled by the Dutch a few decades after Jamestown. They were soon joined by French Huguenots and free Lutherans fleeing the state religions of their German kings. Together they established a loose government under THE WORD.

The British Empire took the Cape from the Dutch during the Napoleonic Wars and installed a governor who quickly discovered that S. African free farmers governing themselves by THE WORD were not in the least interested in empire edicts based on their modified British state-religion.

Force was tried - but was counter-productive and Boer attitudes hardened. English settlers were brought in to dilute the Boer presence and were given confiscated Boer farms.

Draconian measures including executions were tried to bring S. African farmers to heel. Nothing worked. Rather than submit, the Boers abandoned their farms and moved north into the unknown - beyond the reach of the British.

In the face of incredible hardships they settled what is now Orange Free State and the Transvaal. There they prospered.

The wealth accumulated by the presbytery un-taxed self-sufficient farm system is living proof that men have a choice. It destroys what episcopacies are attempting to do.

To erase the Boer blight, and to take their newly discovered gold and silver mines, the British started the Boer War (1899-1902). More Empire troops were brought to S. Africa than there were Boer men, women and children living there. It was a repeat of what the Cartel had done to the American Southland. Farm districts were torched wholesale. Herds of cattle and flocks of chickens and geese were slaughtered and left to rot. Boer POWs were indiscriminatively shot and women and children herded into concentration camps where they died like flies.

British Policy

The following is from Die Afrikaner, 23-29 Jun 2000.

"The intent of the British Empire in S. Africa was made public by the following announcement by the British Army under Lord Roberts:

"Whereas, by Proclamation, dated the 16th day of June 1900, of Lord Roberts, Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief Her Majesty's Forces in South Africa, it was notified to the inhabitants - and principal residents of the Orange River Colony, and the South African republic, were warned, what whatever wanton damage to public property, such as Railways, Bridges, Culverts, Telegraph Wires, etc. took place the houses of persons living in the neighborhood would be burned ..."

"On 2 Sept 1900 Lord Roberts added;

"That 'for ten miles round every farm should be denuded of all provisions, cattle, etc.'

"He further stated that he proposed to expel from all towns and places occupied by British troops the wives and families of burghers in the field.

"This was the extension of 'methods of barbarism' which in the course of the next two years caused the death of almost 24,000 young children - probably more than 30% of the Boer youth in the Concentration Camps." J.A. Marais,

When the British were through, the two Boer republics were virtual deserts.

Russia

Russia grew on the river trade routes linking the Baltic to the Black Seas. Russian Tzars claimed the land and parceled it to be ruled by their nobles. These semi-independent estates produced the cream of Russia's intelligentsia. The rest came from old, old German farm settlements that produced Russia's overwhelming food surplus that was exported worldwide.

Khazar-Turks joined with local rebels and, aided by money and revolutionaries from America, overthrew the venal Imperial government ruled by Jacob and installed a savage Soviet government ruled by Esau. They slaughtered the estate owners. The old German farm settlements had their food supplies confiscated by the Soviet government and they starved by the millions.

Survivors were placed on collective farms, sent to gulags, or Siberia, or were shot. From a food exporting country, Russia overnight became a land having a perpetual food shortage.

The brilliant Solzhenitsyn is notable primarily because he is a rarity from a land that once produced scores like him. The self-sufficient farm that once supported his like is gone and the creative individual who can improvise without its support is rare.

Germany

Germany, incensed by her treatment after WWI, burst on the world stage with a new political platform for all to see. This platform, if successful, meant the end of the International Trade Cartel. Following are some of the program points that received the most condemnation from the Cartel media and its agents.

NATIONAL SOCIALIST PROGRAM 1920

1. Right of self-determination.

NOTE: Germany was ruled by international corporations and foreign states. Especially after WWI, many of them were alien.<sup>4</sup>

<sup>4</sup> "Thou mayest not set a stranger (Heb: zûwr - racial alien) over thee, which is not thy brother." Deu 17:15; "Their nobles shall be of themselves, and their governor shall proceed from the midst of them." Jer 30:21"

3. Land and Colonies confiscated after WWI to be returned so that surplus German populations could be settled. (Germans had been uprooted and forced into the already crowded German heartland causing drastic overcrowding). Germany demanded the return of her land confiscated by the Allies after WWI.

NOTE: Wilson's 14-Points had stated that there would be no forfeiture of lands or peoples by the contestants. Based on this assurance, the Germans agreed to an Armistice. With the Armistice, the German armies dissolved as soldiers left to care for their families starved by the Allied blockade (which continued for 6 months after the war ended), This left the field to the Allies who then imposed a one-sided draconian peace, including:

- * Forfeiture of German homelands
- * Saxon people placed under Slav rule
- * Overseas German colonies confiscated,
- * Imposition of heavy tribute.

THE WORD classifies this as stealing:<sup>5</sup>

4. Nationals only may be citizens.<sup>6</sup>

NOTE: With few exceptions, this point is allowed by all nations across the world - except for Saxon nations.

<sup>5</sup> "For all manner of trespass, whether it be for ox, for ass, for sheep, for raiment, or for any manner of lost thing, which another challengeth to be his, the cause of both parties shall come before the judges; and whom the judges shall condemn, he shall pay double unto his neighbour." Ex 22:9

6. Only nationals may vote and hold office.<sup>8</sup>

NOTE: Most nations of the world have this provision which again is not extended to Saxon countries.

7. State must promote industry and livelihood of nationals - aliens excluded.<sup>9</sup>

NOTE: State intervention stopping German de-industrialization, ending alien immigration, and replacing international banking with national non-usury banking.

8. Non-national immigration prevented and aliens deported.<sup>10</sup>

NOTE: This was accompanied with a repatriation program worked out with Germany's neighbors.

13. Confiscation of business monopolies.

NOTE: Business monopolies in Germany were generally Esau's operations with Jacob fronts. They still are. (Isaiah 5:8; Mic 2:1-2)

18. Usurers & war-profiteers punished with death.

NOTE: Usury is a capital offense. [Ezek 18:13], and "war-profiteering" is a vampire operation.

22. Standing armies abolished and replaced by militias.

NOTE: The end of standing armies marks the end of kings using force to keep themselves on their thrones.

8 "Thou mayest not set a stranger (Heb: zûwr - racial alien) over thee, which is not thy brother." Deu 17:15; "Their nobles shall be of themselves, and their governor shall proceed from the midst of them.. Jer 30:21

9 "If any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel." I Tim 5:8

---

10 "Thou shalt drive them out before thee. Thou shalt make no covenant with them, nor with their gods. They shall not dwell in thy land, lest they make thee sin against me." Ex 23:31- 33

23. Media disinformation punished by law.

NOTE: "As a man thinketh ... so is he." Pr 23:7; Ezek 3:18; Lev 5:1; Isaiah 5:23; Deu 19:16-20

Germany's media before the 1930s was like America's media today: Esau-owned with Jacob fronts. Nothing it says about anything can be believed without verification.

a. Editors and assistants must be nationals.

NOTE: "Esau was a designing and deceitful man, one who hunted after the hearts of man and inveigled them." Jasher 28:20; I John 2:22; I Jn 2:3-4;

b. Non-national media allowed only with special permission.

NOTE: Practically the entire media of the world are managed by three or four sons of Esau.

c. Aliens financing media forbidden.

NOTE: Ownership through Jacob-agents was forbidden.

24. Liberty for all religious denominations that do not endanger the nation or denigrate its morals.

NOTE: Hinduism by any other name is a danger to any nation. Hindu-Christianity is no exception.

a. Positive Christianity supported - but not a particular creed.

NOTE: Modified Christianity only benefits its modifier. THE WORD's Laws, Statutes, and Judgments defined Positive Christianity and won the loyalty and support of both Protestants and Catholics.

Results

As soon as the NSWP was voted into power it immediately began implementing the above program which resulted in the "German Miracle". Germany snapped out of the worldwide depression almost instantly while all others remained mired in it. The program also began the destruction of the International Trade Cartel operation in central Europe.

The ITC retaliated with a worldwide crusade by its servant nations against National Socialist Germany.

Esau's Plan To Destroy Jacob

To destroy man, Esau deposes him from his self-sufficient farm; forcing him into industrial centers for sustenance; then he removes the industry that provides the sustenance and man dies or becomes few in numbers. Esau's Plan has worked many times.

The Morgenthau Plan

At the end of WWII, the Morgenthau Plan was introduced. This was the plan to de-industrialize Germany and seize its farming areas and its peoples and give them to strangers to rule.

Without natural resources and unable to gain sustenance from industry, it was planned that Germany would soon be reduced to less than a 3rd world nation. The plan is still operating and includes all Saxon peoples.

When denied increase from both land and sustenance from industry, the Saxon is expected to wither and die.

Europe

For centuries, Europe's people maintained their growth and power by sending their children to form distant colonies.

The International merchant used his money, media and the armed forces of its American and Soviet puppet states to force Europe to give up her colonies and return off-shore Europeans to Europe creating over-crowding. Many were exterminated in the process and others have been exterminated where they lived as is the case in Rhodesia. The extermination of still others is a work in process now taking place wherever Saxons live.

The most visible result of Esau's war against Jacob is that the reproduction rate of Europe's Saxon population has plunged. Many of its states now have a birth rate of 1.1 to 1.3 - where 2.1 children per family are required to maintain a stationary population.

Conclusion

I learned from my cousin Mary Edwina that as a child she played in perfectly sound houses on farms that had been abandoned because there was no money to pay taxes. Commodity prices had been made artificially low, and roving bands of murdering, robbing aliens presented an ever-present danger.

Next, she introduced me to the devastating effect of the crossbow.

In my childhood mind, the crossbow represented the most powerful weapon it was possible to have - because everyone seemed to think it harmless. But I knew differently. I had seen what a crossbow could do.

I also know something else: the crossbow, that has never been used in my lifetime, I equate to THE WORD - which also has never been used as it should in my lifetime. Its power is shocking and to the unsuspecting - devastating. And we have the promise: when we are in dire need, God will do this for his children:

"If thou turn to God ... he will not forsake thee."
Deut 4:30-31; "I will send my word and save thee and thy seed." II Adam & Eve 12:6

Letter From S. Africa

Dear Mr. Hoskins: Since 1991, 6,600 white farmers have been murdered from attack by blacks. Now, black gangs are moving into towns to kill more whites. They even want to dig up white graves and cremate the bodies. They say we don't even deserve that much space.

In the meantime our young Afrikaner people are beginning to wake up and use what means they have to resist. One is black superstition. A simple song De La Rey makes blacks think we are calling up our forefathers spirits to come after them. Even the Vekleur flag of the Boer War puts them in a state.

You remember Siener van Rensburg who had visions at the end of the Boer War about the future of our people. He predicted hard times were coming for us and then our people were going to rise and drive our enemies away. I see many poems and songs based on these visions.

Black customs take getting used to. Early explorers wrote about their method of crossing crocodile infested rivers. They made the old women go last, so that the crocodiles would get them instead of anyone else. Now they rape babies and children because they believe it will keep them from catching AIDS.

With our best wishes, K.J.

Letter From The Loeries

POB 120, Bronkhorstspuit, South Africa

Dear HR Subscribers,

The Loeries and the Trustees would like to thank you once again from the depth of our hearts for your unconditional love. Your names are engraved in our hearts and is seen in the changes made in our childrens' lives.

Your generous contributions have made the following possible:

The Open Shed - Out Of The Rain

Ready For School

* School Funds were paid in full for some of the children which meant that we were self-sufficient and could take care of our own.

* The area, from the entrance gate to the carport was paved. Something long needed.

Playing "Pass The Tire"

* A sitting room was built where the children can gather after finishing their homework, duties and sport activities in the afternoons.

We have been quite busy and wish you were able to be here and witness things.

After the schools closed down, seven Loeries went to the hospital to have their tonsils removed. After five days of ice cream and TLC they pulled through.

The year 2006 ended on a high note. All the Loeries, apart from one newcomer, passed their annual exams.

Wishing you Hoskins Report readers a wonderful and prosperous 2007!

God Bless, Willie Hoffmann

Chapter 391

CHRISTIAN NATIONALISM

The other night I went to a lecture at the Jones Memorial Library. The speaker was the professor of Irish History from the University of Virginia and his subject was Irish Americans in Virginia. Since my mother's family was "O'Kelly" from "Kelly's Ford", I was very much interested.

At the end of his lecture, he asked for questions. One lady stood and asked what it would take for the Catholic Irish, Anglican Irish, and Presbyterian Northern Irish to get along.

The lecturer shrugged his shoulders, and asked for comments from the audience. Naturally, I volunteered my opinion. I said that as long as Catholics insist on living by their canon law, and the Anglicans insist on living by their canon law, and the Presbyterians insist on living by their version of Biblical Law - other than by conquest - there will be no unity.

Christian unity must encompass the entire Law - not the present Buddhist substitute that has fragmented the Christian WORD into a thousand versions.

Rome's Peacemaker

Rome had Ireland's problem of too many law systems. She had conquered many lands and many peoples. All had different law systems. Yet, Rome was able to rule them in a manner that was usually quiet and relatively peaceful. How did they do it?

Rome used the Hindu technique of rule - the technique used by the international merchant in all lands and among all peoples to this very day. It's simple and it works.<sup>1</sup>

The "10 Buddhist Precepts,"

The following are taken from ERROR'S CHAINS, by Frank S. Dobbins, Standard Publishing House, NY, 1883, p. 524-526. The accompanying comments are my own.

There are ten basic "Buddhist Precepts" - although only the first four are used universally by Hindu-Buddhist missionaries worldwide.

"1. I take the vow not to destroy life.

"2. I take the vow not to steal

"3. I take the vow to abstain from impurity

"4. I take the vow not to lie

These first four precepts are basic to community life and are readily accepted by almost everyone, especially since they mean whatever the speaker says they mean.

Buddhist missionaries implanted them throughout the East before the Christian missionary arrived. Even the Mafia accepts them. Its members may kill, steal, and lie, but if these things are done to their own, the offender will be severely punished. Successful criminal operations require that its members be strictly honest in dealings with their organization and its leaders.

The Remaining Six

The remaining six precepts are not needed for cartel success, but are no less interesting:

"5. I take the vow to abstain from intoxicating drinks, which hinder progress and virtue.

NOTE: This is parallel to the Christian WORD which teaches "It is not for kings to drink wine, nor princes strong drink: lest they drink and forget the law, and pervert judgment." Pr 31:4-5; "When he ... add drunkenness ... all the curses that are written in this book shall fall upon him." Deut 29:19-20

Alcohol is a mind-control substance:

"6. I take the vow not to eat at forbidden times.

NOTE: This has health value - but most episcopal religions turn this precept into a ritual whose only value is to teach obedience.

"7. I take the vow to abstain from dancing, singing, music, and stage-plays.

NOTE: This prohibition is to prevent mind-control. These acts affect one's emotions and one's emotions control one's mind. "As a man thinketh so is he." Pr 23:7 It is also why the Hindu presents awards to their actors and why actors were banned by the Puritans.

"8. I take the vow not to use garlands, scents, unguents or ornaments.

NOTE: Women use perfume and men use after-shave. "Scent massage-therapy" is the rage in large cities. Besides therapeutic value, scents also tend to control both mind and body.

"9. I take the vow not to use a high or broad bed.

NOTE: The great bed was once to show wealth and power. The wise among cartel kings, merchants and priests live modestly in ordinary houses and drive ordinary automobiles.

"10. I take the vow not to receive gold or silver.

NOTE: In ancient days Buddhist priests accepted food and drink only. Gold and silver passed hands in transactions with their monasteries which were unbelievably wealthy. Of course, at a certain level they were allowed to use monastery resources.

Hindu vs Buddhist

Buddhism is a way of life,

Hinduism is a government system. It consists of four castes. The first cast are the priests who interpret the precept-laws. Second - kings who rule captive populations. Third - managers of Hindu assets, and last the workers who are slaves in all but name.

The basic weapon of Hinduism is "mind-control". This includes "media" and "usury banking". "Usury banking reduces targeted populations into slaves and mind-control keeps them from recognizing the fact.

Hinduism says that it accepts all religions. In fact, it does, but only after the targeted religion has been revised to add the Buddhist "4-precepts" and the mind-control mantra of the Hindu merchant:

"One shall not condemn another religion or race by word or deed." King Asoka. 304 B.C.-232 B.C.

Once this process is completed the targeted religion is reduced to a hyphenated religion (Hindu-Christianity) and is easily integrated into the World Force of the Hindu.

The WORD

Before there was a Bible, or Moses, or Abraham, Isaac or Jacob - before there was the world - there was the WORD.

The WORD is LAW. It is absolute and exact. It may not be tampered with without unfortunate consequences that follow in logical sequence. It covers all eventualities.

The WORD made man in its image. Man is the only nation made in the image of the LAW. Using the LAW man can do things humans can't. Using the LAW man made iron float, made people fly and able to go to the bottom of the ocean and return.<sup>2</sup>

The WORD gave detailed instructions of how man was to first rule himself and then how to rule the world. The WORD created and instructed man to obey the LAWS - and proclaimed devastating curses for disobedience.

The WORD allows man to make atomic bombs. The WORD tells him when they are to be dropped. Man, obedient to the WORD chooses one time - disobedient man and most humans choose another. The choice is a choice of life or death - the choice is between the welfare of God's world and his creatures - or their destruction.

The Bible

The Roman Empire was confronted with a revolutionary named Jesus, who called himself "son-of-man". He returned the ancient Law to his people. His Gospel spread, teaching man that he was special and had a special job to do - that he was appointed king and priest to carry out God's will.

The Law that Jesus brought taught that there were to be no kings other than themselves, no taxes; they were not to be ruled by humans; or have humans in their midst; the land was to be divided and never sold, and there was to be no trade with strangers.

<sup>2</sup> All can profit by using the Law, but the innate lawlessness of most humans causes its benefits to be of relatively short duration.

Rome was an empire built on the trade that resulted from conquest and sacking cities and countries of others. This Gospel had devastating economic effects on Rome.

The Encyclopedia Britannica, 14th Edition, Vol 5, p. 635 says:

"Very early, Christianity was conceived to be a new system of law, and faith was interpreted as obedience."

The Two Law Systems

Christian Law and Roman law could not rule at the same time. The result was chaos.

Roman officials attempted to suppress the Law of the the WORD by burning and executing as many followers of Jesus as they could find.

Next they used the Buddhist mind-control of the "4-precepts". The object was to deceive people into believing that it was possible to have, and to obey, two law-systems while having only one. The Roman law regarding government would continue as always and the opposing system would be confined to the universal "don't lie, cheat or steal" plus its rituals.

In time, Rome manufactured a new Christian religion called Marcianism, (HR #239, #375). It related many of the moral teachings of Paul and Jesus while claiming that the ancient Laws of God were done away. This left only the government of Rome to declare what was law and what wasn't.

From that day to this, each time the The WORD has been revived it has been intercepted by a Marcian facsimile whose basis is the 4-Precepts combined with the Hindu mantra "One shall not condemn another religion or race by word or deed"

. This ignores the 2/3 of the Scriptures that deal with government on earth. The result has been that appearances change, but in reality the powers that be continue to rule as they always have.

The WORD Revealed

God gave a special name to a special group - "Israel". The word means "To rule as God". There is great power inherent in the name.

"The LORD thy God hath chosen thee to be a special people unto Himself, above all the people that are upon the face of the earth." Deut 7:6; "I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel." Matthew 5:24; "Oh children of Israel ... You only have I known of all families of the earth." Amos 3:1; "For in the division of the nations of the whole earth he set a ruler over every people; but Israel is the Lord's portion." Ecclesiasticus 17:17; "Among all the multitudes of people thou hast gotten thee one people: and unto this people, whom thou lovedst, thou gavest a law that is approved of all." II Esdras 5:27; "The eternal God is thy refuge ... and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee; and shall say, Destroy them. Israel then shall dwell in safety alone." Deut 33:28

The above tells who is authorized by God; the verses that follow tell how.

Groups through the ages have tried to pre-empt the WORD and use the name of its enforcers to benefit themselves. God knew that this would happen and said that the time would come when the name Israel would be forgotten and those appointed to be true Israel would then call themselves by Isaac's name - Isaac-sons, Saxons.

*"They shall no more be remembered by their name."
Hos 2:17 (Israel); "The Lord God shall ... call his servants by another name." Isaiah 65:15; "In Isaac shall thy name be called." Romans 9:7*

Esau vs Jacob

Esau swore to kill his brother Jacob.

"Esau hated Jacob ... and Esau said ... I (will) slay my brother Jacob." Ge 27:41

Esau disobeyed his father and mother and married daughters of Cain and daughters of Ishmael. His descendants<sup>3</sup> have spread Esau's blood throughout Arabia, India, Africa, the Orient, and the Americas.

The World Divided

The world is now divided into the world of Esau and the world of Jacob. It is a world at war. The weapon of Esau is deception and the weapon of the sons of Jacob is the WORD. Esau tries to deprive Jacob of his weapon, the WORD, and Jacob tries to deprive Esau of his weapon, deception.

Esau knows that Jacob is dangerous only when he obeys the WORD. However, if Jacob does not know the WORD, he is defenseless.

Esau's first step to fulfill his promise to kill Jacob is to separate him from the WORD which is his God. He does this by using the deception<sup>4</sup> of his media-monopoly, called by the ancients "The Cloak of Esau".<sup>5</sup> The media-monopoly plus his

<sup>3</sup> "Thy merchants were the great men of the earth; for by thy sorceries were all nations deceived." Re 18:23

usury monopoly with its massive corporate wealth, presents Jacob an imposing adversary.

To attempt to overwhelm the WORD, Esau's corporations open their coffers and endow Christian seminaries and colleges that train the sons of Isaac. This generosity allows Esau to select teachers - the ones who will teach the "4-Precepts" wrapped in Christian ritual.

The two-thirds of the Bible that deals with government, contracts, judgments, and money remain hidden. If revealed, the result would be "Thy kingdom come on earth" and the world of Esau would be destroyed.

The War Verses

Esau has deceived the world into believing that the WORD's policy and laws of government are his to obey - or not;

"Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I come not to send peace, but a sword." Matt 10:34; "The land cannot be cleansed of the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of him that shed it." Num 35:33; "Let the saints be joyful ... Let the high praises of God be in their mouth, and a two-edged sword in their hand, to execute vengeance upon the heathen, and punishments upon the people; to execute upon them the judgment written: this honor have all his saints." Ps 149:5- 9;

"Teach thy sons the bow and all weapons of war." Jasher 56:9; "He said unto them ... he that hath no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one." Luke 22:36-37; "Cursed be he that doeth the work of the Lord deceitfully, and cursed be he that keepeth back his sword from blood." Jer 48:10; "If the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned ... his blood will I require." Eze 33:6;

"For the word of God is quick, and sharper than any 2-edged sword." Heb 4:12; "Whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it." Matt 16: 24-25; "If a man keep my sayings, he shall never see death." Jno 8:51

At present, Esau's puppets lay exclusive claim to these war verses - even the exclusive right to use this last one;

"These enemies of mine, which would not that I should reign over them, bring hither, and slay them before me." Luke 19:27

Conclusion

It is perfectly logical that Esau's puppet government bans the Ten Commandments. "Two masters cannot rule at the same time." Esau bans the Law of the WORD from Jacob, and allows him only to teach the "4-Precepts" wrapped in Christian ritual.

The war is on. Jacob's lands are being massively invaded by Esau's armies. Esau intends to fulfill his promise to kill his brother Jacob.

Regardless:

It is true what the Encyclopedia Britannica, said:

"Christianity was conceived to be a new system of law, and faith was interpreted as obedience."

God The WORD created the world and all that is in it. Man's survival depends on his obedience to what appears to many to be a new system of law.

Those who would live under the Laws of God rather than the deceptions of Esau are tomorrow's hope.

The Christian Nationalist.

The language problem is with us again. I think how hard Gen Hertzog fought in the 1920s to get Afrikaans recognized and now the black regime wants to remove all traces of everything Afrikaans as well as the Afrikaner. The number of Afrikaans-only schools has been reduced from over 2000 down to only 300.

The song in modern idiom about Gen de la Rey really upsets the Blacks. They say we are calling up forefathers' spirits and it frightens them. There is talk that more songs will be written - some based on Siener van Rensburg's visions. Apparently, the thousands who went to the rugby match on Saturday sang that one and other patriotic songs. We are experiencing not only a spiritual war but a physical one as the killing of my people continues. We do not only need de la Rey, we need our God to save us, or we will disappear as England has worked so hard to bring about. England will one day pay for all its many evil deeds.

The establishment want to fill our Afrikaans schools with black children who must be taught in English. They are changing all the place names. I don't even know what towns and places they are talking about. Nothing appears any longer in Afrikaans.

The number and viciousness of the murders being committed are unbelievable. If the blacks start saying that they will kill all whites, we had better take it seriously and see to our safety at all times. Now, when forced to take trips, we travel armed. On our last trip we had four types of firearms with us. We don't intend to repeat Riet Retiefs' mistake of trusting Dingaan of the Zulus. Once disarmed, Dingaan killed them all.

Yours faithfully, K.J.

De La Rey

During South Africa's Boer War (1899-1902), one of the Boer leaders was the dashing cavalry commander General de la Rey.

With a handful of crack marksmen, he rode circles around the huge invading British armies. Countless times he defeated them in open combat. Many times, British soldiers, hearing his name, lay down their arms and allowed themselves to be taken prisoner. He destroyed railroads, captured wagon trains, scores of cannon, and countless numbers of British prisoners. He was also among the very last of the bitter enders to give up the struggle for freedom.

Recently, a man named Bok van Blerk wrote a song named "De la Rey". It has taken today's Afrikaner nation by storm and is sung everywhere - especially at sporting events. It has been banned. In spite of the ban people stand and break into song.

The problem for S. Africa's Black rulers is that ordinary Blacks believe the Whites are calling on the spirits of their ancestors to help them fight to regain their country. Blacks well remember the Battle of Blood River when 20,000 Zulus attacking a handful of whites in a wagon train saw another army of thousands of Whites firing at them from the clouds above the besieged Boers.

Today, a wave of superstitious fear has begun to descend on S. Africa - and in spite of the ban - "de la Rey" is spontaneously sung at sporting events and where crowds gather. The words read in part:

"And my house and my farm were burnt to the ground so they could capture our land.

"But the flame and the fire that once burned now burn profoundly within my heart.

"De La Rey, De La Rey come lead the Boer

"De La Rey, De La Rey

"General, General united with you we shall rise or we fall.

"General De La Rey ...

"But the heart of a Boer is deeper and wider than the enemy can see ...

"Because my wife and my child are forced into prison to die, As the enemies overrun us again, we are forced to take a stand." - SaPa

Ernst Zundel Jailed

A German court in Mannheim, Germany convicted Ernst Zundel, 67, of the crime of "Holocaust Denial" and sentenced him to five years in prison.

Certain rabbis contend that the alleged deaths of 6 million Jews atone for their sins in a prior life and this permits them to side-step punishment and be reborn into the New Age. This would make Holocaust Denial a religious dogma. All the contrary evidence in the world will be unable to reverse religious dogma.

VPI MASSACRE In Perspective

VPI Massacre

VPI has 26,000 students and 100 buildings on a 2,600 acre campus in Blacksburg, Virginia. A 23 year old student, a Korean son-of-Esau, shot and killed two people about 7:15 a.m. Two hours later he entered a classroom on the other side of the campus and proceeded to shoot and kill 30 more and wound 26. We are told that he then shot himself.

FBI

In America, when some awful event takes place the FBI immediately comes under suspicion because they are often seen pulling the triggers. Media on-site coverage disclosed FBI agents on campus soon after the first shootings - and before the mass shootings took place. Proof that the national government had inserted itself into the VPI affair from the first. If the FBI had some part in this dreadful affair - would they be serving their masters or would they be serving the American people?

DEEP thought is unnecessary. The Law says;

"No man can serve two masters." Matt 6:24

The FBI is hired and paid by the federal government. If you trust those in charge of the the U.S. government you will trust the upcoming conclusions provided by the FBI investigations.

Gun Control

The media have once again raised the cry that since guns did the killings - guns should be outlawed. Are guns actually to blame for the VPI shooting or did the shootings take place to incite the public to pass anti-gun laws?

We remember that the Communist Program calls for disarming captive populations. Czarist Russia was conquered and civilian ownership of firearms was banned. Following a mass murder of children in Scotland - Britain banned firearms. Following a mass murder in Australia - Australia banned firearms. Now, there has been a mass shooting in Virginia and Esau's media are beating the drum to ban firearms.

The other side of the gun control matter is that some states allow its citizens to carry concealed firearms. Virginia, where the shooting took place, is one of them. In Virginia, at least one person in every Virginia crowd is armed. It was announced on our local Lynchburg radio station WLNI, 3:30 p.m., April 24, 2007 that of 193,000 concealed gun carry permits issued in VA, NC, and KY - there has not been one felony among them in 5 years.

We remember that in South Africa two blacks appeared at the back of a church during service and opened fire on the congregation with automatic rifles killing several. One church-goer was armed. He drew his pistol and returned fire and the attackers ran away.<sup>1</sup>

But things were different at VPI. The state appointed administrator had banned guns on campus. Result? The teachers and students could not defend themselves against an armed attacker. One person returning fire might have stopped the slaughter. It did in S. Africa.

The administration of VPI had broken the law by denying its teachers and students means of defending themselves from deadly force and may be charged with criminal neglect.

Esau vs Jacob

The WORD says,

"Esau hated Jacob ... and Esau said ... I (will) slay my brother Jacob." Ge 27:41

"Esau was a designing and deceitful man, one who hunted after the hearts of men and he stole their minds." Jasher 29:20-23

Many Gods

It has been estimated that Esau has more than 200,000,000 gods. Each god has its own customs and laws - some of them are violent. Readers will remember that in 2004, a group, unknown in the West, released poison gas in the subways in Japan to kill as many people as they could in order to bring to an end the present evil age of Kaliyuga. The group numbers tens, if not hundreds of millions all through Asia - including Korea. All of this is foreign to the Western mind, but the question is there - did the Koran VPI killer belong to this organization? Its something that has to be taken into consideration.

Esau's 36-Strategies Of Deception

Educated people understand that Esau intends to kill Jacob. Even the devils of their religions are white. It is wise to try to understand their war strategy called the "36-Strategies".

There are many books written about Esau's 36-Strategies and the different methods used to implement them. They are taught to Esau from childhood and are used by the mother in her daily shopping and the general on the battlefield. Esau contemplates which of the 36-Strategies he will use in his next encounter with his enemy.

Jacob complacently respects the Law of the WORD and tends to ignore any other belief system. When he suffers defeat after defeat he does not look beyond to the strategies that brought about his defeats - the 36-Strategies. These strategies were listed in HR #365 with examples and are listed below to serve as a reminder and an abbreviated reference:

Esau's 36 Methods Of War

"The greatest victory is the victory gained without battle."

- 1 - Hide important things in the open for all to see.*
- 2 - Help save a state from evil forces by invading them.*
- 3 - Use surrogates to do what you don't wish to be seen doing.*
- 4 - Make impossible demands on potential victims.*
- 5 - Start a house fire and help salvage the contents.*
- 6 - Talk one thing - do something else.*
- 8 - Use an unknown technique.*
- 9 - Help the enemy destroy himself with internal dissensions.*
- 10 - Smile with knife in hand.*
- 11 - Sacrifice friends to win victory for a greater good."*
- 12 - Quietly pick up unattended property as your own.*
- 13 - Make a hidden enemy reveal himself by creating a disturbance.*
- 14 - Pretend the worthless is valuable.*
- 15 - Entice an enemy from his place of strength.*
- 16 - Never attack a desperate enemy.*
- 17 - Exchange something worthless for something valuable.*
- 18 - Make every effort to capture the friendship of the leader of a powerful opposition.*
- 19 - If unable to answer problems or ideas - remove or discredit the author or authors of the problems.*

- 20 - Replace an enemy's loss of direction with your own program.
- 21 - Pretend the cicada's empty shell is alive.
- 22 - Denounce friends to establish believable "bona fides".
- 23 - Keep captive populations intimidated.
- 24 - Promise one thing - deliver another.
- 25 - Attack enemies within reach - keep others neutral.
- 26 - The hidden message.
- 27 - Pretend not to notice the approach of an enemy.
- 28 - Destroy the bridge.
- 29 - Be wise by playing the fool.
- 30 - Provoke strong emotion - we good, enemy bad.
- 31 - The beauty trap.
- 32 - If weak, appear weaker than you really are.
- 33 - Use double agents.
- 34 - Self inflicted wounds.
- 35 - Create your own "Bing-fa" - 36 strategy combination.
- 36 - When all else fails - Run.

Using Esau's 36 Strategies

The Children-of-Esau use the above rules of warfare taught from the cradle called the "36 Strategies". It is ancient. Almost every move Esau makes can be traced to one or more of these "36 Strategies".

Following is a list of a few of these strategies now being used against Jacob (the "36 Strategies" were listed and explained in HR #365).

Strategy 18: "Make every effort to capture the friendship of the leaders of the enemy."

Esau's usury system gives him money to capture the media. It has bought the loyalty and made puppets of religious and political leaders in practically every area that has a media intelligence- gathering network.

Strategy 6: "Talk one thing - do something else."

Every word of Esau's media is designed to capture minds.

Strategy 13: "Make a hidden enemy reveal himself by creating a disturbance."

The unprovoked attacks on Gordon Kahl, Ruby Ridge, and Waco resulted in a massive activation of citizen militias - which disclosed names, numbers, and location of militia units to local media intelligence gatherers. The size of the nationwide mobilization alarmed Esau and convinced him that the time was not right for a Bolshevik type solution in America.

Strategy 34: "Self inflicted wounds".

To retain credibility, the media have recently repeated charges from reputable sources that the Oklahoma City incident pointed to government participation. The result was to give dictatorial powers to America's chief executive. There appears to have been also a tentative admission of government participation in the destruction of the Twin Towers. Now that the deed is done it is politically correct to point out that this 9-11 incident caused the public to fight whatever enemy was pointed out to them.

Strategy 2: "Help save a state from evil forces by invading them". Iraq was invaded to save the world from their "weapons of mass destruction" - now known to have been non-existent.

Strategy 11 - Sacrifice friends to win victory for a greater good."

President John Kennedy and Martin Luther King had both lost credibility. People had tired of Kennedy lies, corrupt personal life, and liberal stance. People were tired of Martin Luther King's talk about non-violence while leaving burning cities behind him. Both were loyal to Esau. Both had become liabilities. Both were assassinated; in this way the liabilities were turned into martyred assets.

They were sacrificed to win victory for a greater good.

Strategy 22 - Denounce friends to establish believable "bona fides".

People like Don Imus and Rosie O'Donnell pushed the limits of public tolerance. To appear to be in touch with the public - the networks fired them with great fanfare - making the networks "the good guys" and avoiding a public backlash.

The fired individuals now take a back seat with their multimillions until the heat dies and the public forgets. The media will have established its "bona fides" as protector of public morals and then the denounced friends can return.

Strategy 33 - Use double agents.

Esau's media publicize its agents. The American voter votes for the best person he knows, but the only one he knows is the one the media reveal to him. The man elected "cannot serve two masters" so he serves the one whose publicity allowed him to be elected. This activates "Strategy 3" - Use surrogates to do what you don't wish to be seen doing.

Strategy 24: "Promise one thing - deliver another."

Esau's puppets promised that the few lives lost during the Iraq/Afghan Wars would destroy "terrorism" and make the world safe. These events also diverted America's attention from the massive ongoing invasion of her country.

Strategy 27: "Pretend not to notice the approach of an enemy."

Esau's media have crowded the front pages with the foibles of George W., Anna Nicole Smith, the Iraq War, Don Imus, Rosie O'Donnel, African starvation and massacre, and now VPI. All divert attention from the big story.

The Big Story

The big story is that Esau has already occupied Europe with over 50 million muslims - not counting millions of asiatics and blacks. These invaders are not the traditional desert raiders - they have set their tent pegs and staked out their territory. They intend to stay. Europe is the broodland of the Saxon - the heartland of our people.

America's Hispanic, Oriental and African occupation has swelled to more than 40% of the total population.

Esau's mind-control media have effectively used the "36 Strategies" in his war against Jacob. Esau means to kill his brother Jacob, and the traitors in pulpit and government allow it because their "love of money"<sup>2</sup> is greater than their love for their countrymen and for the WORD which is God.

The big story is the on-going invasion and occupation of the land of Jacob by the armies of Esau in violation of God's Law. The WORD says so.

The following is my favorite of all the 36.

Mel Gibson

Strategy 6 - Talk one thing - do something else. The best example I can think of is Mel Gibson. He is delightful, believable, and absolutely amazing doing what he does. This hero of "Braveheart" is in trouble again - maybe.

He got in trouble over his movie about the crucifixion of Christ. Esau's media in a pro-Jewish stance came down hard saying that it was "anti-semitic". Jews all over the country stood and condemned the picture. Mel apologized, apologized, apologized.

Wishing to see the anti-Semitic production that everyone was talking about and that Mel was apologizing about, America packed the movie houses. The gross was estimated to be somewhere between a half-billion to a billion. Now, that's impressive! As soon as everyone had their ticket the media stopped bashing Mel.

"Kha-Ching!"

To retain his "anti-semitic" status, Mel did it again. The story is that he got drunk, was pulled over by a Jewish cop to whom he is said to have complained that the Jews have caused all the world's wars. Whereupon the media again accused Mel Gibson of being anti-Semitic. Mel apologized, apologized, apologized.

"Once is your fault - twice is my fault."

Is it possible that Esau's media are creating a right-wing celebrity-hero to be the next stand-in leader of America's right wing? How about a governor? Since it is dangerous for Saxons to have their own genuine recognizable heroes, Hollywood steps in to give them what they need.

Schwarzenegger was hired to act the part of governor. He's good.

Reagan, another Hollywood "B" actor successfully played the part of governor and did so well that he was hired to play the part of president. Even Castro, America's Cuban nemesis, was hired from Hollywood. In Esau's world a good deceiver can play any part Esau needs and is worth his weight in awards and in gold.

"As a man thinketh ... so is he." Pr 23:7

The One Responsible

One can place responsibility for the VPI shootings on government political manipulation, the age of Kaliyuga, or an act of war by Esau using one of the 36-Strategies, and they would be wrong.

The WORD is clear - the stranger who pulled the trigger should not have been here. If he had not been here he would not have committed the crime. The one who did not warn the people that there was an alien in their midst is the guilty one:

"Thou shalt drive them out before thee. Thou shalt make no covenant with them, nor with their gods. They shall not dwell in thy land, lest they make thee sin against me." Ex 23:31- 33

"O son of man, I have set thee a watchman unto the house of Israel ... If thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way ... his blood will I require at thy hand." Ezek 33:6-8

Those who have spoken to warn our people are the faithful watchmen. Those who have remained silent are the guilty ones and will receive the curse of God.

Letter From South Africa by K.J.

Ransburg centre is black. It's sad that a place hardly more than 50 years old has declined into a slum. Under black rule, parks and sports fields are being turned into squatter housing built of stolen tin and wood that seemingly go up in one night.

The suburbs near the centre of Ransburg have developed huge rat problems. Water and sewage pipes are continually in a state of collapse and are unable to supply all of the town additions. The plan is to do the same to Pretoria and the rest.

Because of the high crime rate, townhouse complexes have been built that promise security, but present a bleak view - no trees, grass, flowers or dogs - and they are just as expensive as a house in the country. They were sold as being safe, having guards at the gate, but was a false promise since they are continually being broken into.

The Zimbabwe crisis is growing daily and their citizens are flooding South Africa.

Mbeki's "quiet diplomacy" has been uncovered as his way of doing nothing. A recent poll shows that 6% believe that he is truthful and 94% believe that he is a liar.

Why England's Margaret Thatcher chose Mugabe to rule Rhodesia while knowing full well that he was a tyrant I will never understand.

A woman announcer on Radio Pretoria said that Rockefeller gave the Dutch Reformed Church seminary here R6 million. The one who pays the piper calls the tune.

There is talk about new widespread land confiscations here in South Africa. It's called for in the Communist Manifesto. We may soon have to make some serious choices.

Yours faithfully, K.J.

APOLOGY: NC has followed in the steps of Virginia in apologizing for their part in promoting slavery and Jim Crow laws. IBD, Apr 9, 2007

RKH: Eternal apology is "guilt-control" of the minds of Saxon people. Those who know history know that Saxons have done nothing of which to be ashamed. First, slavery prohibition pertains to man, not humans. Second, by Law strangers are not allowed in our lands. Third; England owned the slave monopoly which they took in a war with France. Fourth; England forbade Virginia to stop the slave trade and repatriate slaves. Fifth; the South was invaded to destroy the African Colonization Movement which was created to return black labor to Africa. The War burned South's farms to replace its barter system with Esau's usury-capitalism where every man is a slave. Fifth; If there is a guilty party it is the British Empire Inc., and Africa's own black slave-traders who rounded up their brothers for sale - and still do.

Make the two of them "fess-up", apologize and pay. Pay no attention to the lies of the lick-spittle puppets of Virginia and North Carolina governments who grovel when their masters snap their fingers.

The execution will go down in history "as an American affair," said Robert Fisk in Britain's Independent. They will assert that "the West destroyed an Arab leader who no longer obeyed his orders from Washington." Also, Saddam was killed on the Sunni Eid al-Adha, that day that Allah had mercy on Abraham and spared the life of his son Ishmael. It is a day devoted to mercy and forgiveness. "Even the ghastly Saddam" used to release prisoners on that day. The US government "deliberately insulted and humiliated more than 1.5 billion Muslims."

PSYCH: A poster showing Saddam Hussein's dead body was removed last week from the recreation yard in the US prison in Guantanamo Bay.

-----

STATE PRIESTS: Polish Archbishop Wielgus has been outed as a former secret-police collaborator. Wielgus denied spying for the communist-era government, but a newspaper discovered documents proving his employment. Another prominent priest, Father Janusz Bielanski of Krakow's Wawel Cathedral also resigned over similar past collaboration. (WEEK, p.6, Jan 19, 2007)

RKH: Russian Orthodox priests collaborated with the communist state; Polish and German Roman priests collaborated with the communist state; German Lutheran priests appointed by the state collaborated with the communist government. State priests of whatever denomination tend to be loyal to whatever state is in power at the time. A man cannot serve two masters. Be warned.

MEDIA WHACKED: The Russian government simply does not pursue crimes against reporters. Of 13 journalists murdered since 2000, only three cases went to trial, and none brought a conviction. For every reporter that was killed there are dozens who were beaten up, or threatened, or had their cars burned or apartments ransacked. And no one was punished. (THE WEEK, p.14, Feb 9, 2007)

-----

RELIGION: The Vatican, a sovereign jurisdiction with its own laws and police, has the highest per capita crime rate in the world. In 2006, Vatican City, with a population of just 492 had nearly 1,000 crimes-mostly pick-pocketing, purse snatching, and fraud. That's a crime rate of about 1.5 crimes per resident. (Der Spiegel)

-----

HOPE: Paul Kinsella of Belleville, Ill. dropped wallets around. Each contained $2.10 in cash and a fake $50 gift certificate. He eventually got back 74 of the 100 wallets. Things aren't as bad as they say.

-----

KOSOVO: The US blew Yugoslavia apart in 1999. It then brought in its lapdog EU to lend legitimacy to its actions. The EU occupation forces privatized much of Kosovo assets and over Belgrade's protest intends to declare the 90% Moslem Kosovo an independent state. The reason that Kosovo is now 90% Islamic is because of on-going Islamic immigration. Finishing one conquest for the ITC the US Janissary (Turk for white slave) is planting seeds for the next war.

Chapter 393

News & Advance

FALWELL

Jerry Falwell 1933 - 2007

For the last two weeks the Lynchburg News & Advance has been full of the death of Jerry Falwell. Every major newspaper and magazine in the country has carried stories about him. Congress held a minute of silence. It ended a few days ago after the body had been displayed for several days for the thousands of visitors and then carried in a horse-drawn conveyance through crowd lined streets of the 5,000 acre Liberty University to a gravesite on the hill where an eternal flame will burn.

I knew Jerry

The Jerry I first knew wasn't the Jerry in the paragraph above. He was fun, a comedian. He did a lot of good in Lynchburg. He sincerely cared about people.

He grew into a Lynchburg institution. Politicians stood in line to bask in TV glory in his pulpit. A visiting politician, by merely being there, was translated by public relations people as having received Jerry's endorsement.

Jerry Falwell was media created - just as Billy Graham, Pat Robinson, Jim Bakker, and others. He employs an older son as the Church's attorney and a younger son as successor pastor.

First Contacts

I was the organizer for the Defenders of State Sovereignty, an organization of Virginians trying to prevent the de-Sax-ization of state schools by the feds. I organized Lynchburg and looked for a chaplain. The only one willing was Jerry Falwell. Jerry was a welcome addition and a wholehearted supporter of separate educational systems.

The Wind Shifts

Virginia was betrayed by its governor, J. Lindsay Almond, the one who talked like a lion but then tamely handed over Virginia's schools for a federal judgeship.

Members of the now defunct Defenders in Lynchburg started a private school to keep Lynchburg's children from "walking with strangers".<sup>1</sup> Schools are time consuming, most of the Defenders who dealt with never ending school problems were older, so Jerry offered to take and run the school as a racially separated school. This was the beginning of Jerry's Thomas Roads schools.

Thomas Road Congregation

Thomas Road was the only church in town that was doing any thing to help alcoholics, the down-and-outers, the people that no one else wanted.

Jerry's style of church service got attention. In the formative years he spoke one Sunday in four. Visiting notables were brought in from all over the country to speak on the other three Sundays. Most of them were excellent. John R. Rice, Oliver Green, the Chaplain of Bourbon Street; lots of people came to hear one, and came the next Sunday to hear another visiting speaker. That was the reason I started attending. The different speakers.

There was always something new - choirs, singing groups, exhibitions of one sort or another. It was a religious Disneyland. When Jerry spoke he made it lively and incorporated the congregation as much as he could.

When I arrived I found two groups in the congregation - those who came to hear Jerry, and "followers of the WORD" who came to seek fellowship with others of their kind. They volunteered for every task. Many of them were ushers. This resulted in an amusing incident.

NAACP In And Out

I was told that a delegation from the NAACP came to Thomas Road to integrate the church. They walked in while service was in progress. The ushers dealt with the trouble-makers in 30 seconds.

They grabbed the intruders by their collars and the seats of their pants and threw them head over tea-cups down the front steps.

Curb Conversation

I was a representative of a NY Stock Exchange firm and trained as a portfolio manager in New York by old Francis I. Dupont. They sent me back to Lynchburg to manage the portfolios of a new local firm they had just bought, Scott, Horner & Mason. At the same time they sent me to Lynchburg, they transferred all the Lynchburg portfolios to New York to be managed there. Having nothing to manage, I was forced to start from scratch as a stockbroker. It was hard work.

Jerry was just getting started with his church at the old Donald Duck Bottling plant on Thomas Road. He was doing something no one else was doing. He used TV. His wife Macel helped as a teller at the same bank as my wife, Ann. Every Friday, Jerry and I would sit on the curb outside the bank waiting to pick up our wives and commiserating with each other.

Saved 28 Apr 1965, 4:00 P.M.

I had been taught to be an atheist by a religion teacher at Lynchburg College. Atheism wasn't working. I had tried everything. I knew that Stonewall Jackson and Robert E. Lee were Christians, and they were better men than I could ever hope to be, so, I determined to try to copy whatever it was that worked for them.

It was 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon of April 28, 1965. No preachers, no churches, no friends around. I made an agreement with God - if there was one - that if he would let me work I would try my best to believe. I gave my word.

I started studying the Bible intending to do what it said. I understood the words to be God's marching orders, and I was just a recruit in the rear ranks who had a lot of catching-up to do. I read three chapters a day and four on Sunday. I also promised that I would go to church on Sunday.

Thomas Road Visiting Ministers

I thought that people either obeyed God's orders or he didn't. One was either a Christian or he wasn't. It was the one way or the other. What I learned from my weekly visits to Lynchburg's churches had almost nothing to do with what I was reading in the Bible.

Then I read a newspaper advertisement that Oliver Green was going to visit Thomas Road Baptist Church. I went to see what he was all about. It was worth the time. He had a story to tell.

The next week there was someone else, and the week following still someone different. Jerry had a visiting speaker every Sunday in the month except one when he spoke and he only acted as master-of-ceremonies the rest of the time. Instead of visiting around all over town - I began to stay at Thomas Road and let the different speakers come to me. I joined the church along about September 1965.

Jerry said that my baptism when I was 7 didn't count, that I should get baptized again. So I did. So did my wife and, as the years went by, my six children. I was trying to do it right. These guys were pros and I was new to this religious stuff.

Drinking

I was an alcoholic. Many is the time that I went to service after drinking and didn't see anything wrong with it. Then, one of the visiting ministers said something that I had never heard before - He said "Jesus Christ ... hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; Rev 1:5-6

I wasn't interested in being a king and a priest.

He continued, "It is not for kings to drink wine, nor princes strong drink: lest they drink and forget the law." Pr 31:4-5. That made sense. I was being promoted, but to qualify I had to stop drinking.

I wasn't allowed to drink because it would make me forget God's Law.

I was in Willis Carto's apartment in Washington on Jan 1, 1966. He gave me a beer. I drank half and set the can on the kitchen counter. It was 10 o'clock in the morning. That was my last drink.

City Council

I ran for City Council. Jerry let me announce my candidacy from the pulpit. He wished me well. Eliot Schewel, a Jewish businessman, was also running. He went to see Jerry and then announced to the Lynchburg News and Daily Advance that he had the endorsement of Jerry Falwell. Jerry didn't dispute it and I lost the election by 11 votes.

Smoking

Jerry didn't smoke. He announced from the pulpit that most of the congregation didn't smoke. I smoked 3 packs a day. Somebody pulled the scripture "Your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?" 1 Co 6:19. I was abusing Government property. This was a tough outfit.

I quit smoking Jan 1, 1967.

Marriage

Jerry said that the answer to everything is in the Bible. He made everyone hold up his Bible every Sunday and told them they should read three chapters a day and four on Sunday to get through in one year.

Ann and I have been married for almost half a century - the last 40 happy. The first ten were something else. Trying to straighten things out, I started with Proverbs and marked a "M" in the margin if it dealt with women or marriage. I did that throughout the Bible.

Ann and I talked about what was written. With understanding, give and take, things worked out. In fact, I can honestly say that everything good that has happened in our marriage is because of my wife.

Witnessing

There was an old associate minister at Thomas Road. He had been a bootlegger. His thing was "soul-winning". He was always bringing new members to church. I went with him to see what he was doing.

It was simple. He just went up to a door that he had never been to before, and knocked. Invited in, he told them what the Bible had to say. People believed him and turned their lives around - just like that. He used the "Roman Road" approach. I copied him when I went out by myself. It worked. I've still got a dog-eared testament full of names of people who signed, "I'm saved and I know it!" No other church in town had a witnessing ministry that I knew about. It always amazed me to see someone turn his life around.

Church

Right next to the Donald Duck Bottling plant Jerry built a nice church. It held about 500-600 and people stood in the aisles and along the walls. He then started talking about a bigger church that would hold 3,000. I laughed at that. Who would come? He built it and it filled right up. People stood along the walls and sat in the aisles. He had to build extra balconies and crowd in more pews. Everyone helped. I mixed mortar for the bricklayers.

Taught To Shoot

Jerry had a get-away cabin on Tobacco Row Mountain. He invited me up to teach him and his family how to shoot the .45. Jerry learned fast. Macel, his wife, did well as did his daughter and oldest son Jerry, Jr. His teen-age redheaded son, Jonathon, excelled. He was a natural. He was also rude.

Jerry's Advice

My eldest daughter wanted to marry a certain young man whose father was a deacon at the local Presbyterian Church. He was a nice boy, a student, but had no job. I thought that they were talking about an engagement and getting married after he finished school and had a job.

The scriptures instruct "Prepare thy work without, and make it fit for thyself in the field; and afterward build thine house." Prov 24:27. In other words - get your act together then get married.

With no job to support a wife he intended to live with his parents - which was all right with them - but not me. I sent the couple to talk to the Presbyterian preacher of his church to straighten things out. That preacher didn't know enough scripture to counsel them and made things worse. Then I sent them to a Baptist minister, who I later found had married his wife while he was in school. If it was good enough for him it was good enough for my daughter and her boyfriend. So much for preacher advice.

My daughter is hard headed like her mother's side of the family and without my blessing went ahead and set the wedding date and sent out announcements. I asked Jerry what I should do. He advised, "Don't fold". "Keep on keeping on." It was good advice. At the last minute she called the wedding off. The young man met someone else two weeks later, married her, had two children and then left her.

That could have been my daughter.

Oliver Green

I've spent 10 years on active duty and in the reserves. I like things orderly and by the book. Thomas Road was the most disorganized place I ever saw. Ice and snow came and no one cleaned the steps or sidewalks. People fell down and hurt themselves - and things continued on. Oliver Green came to town with his tent. The mud parking lot was the only place that would hold that huge, huge tent. I went out with a sledge-hammer and put in stakes. It took a day and a half.

Where do people park their cars with a tent in the middle of the mud parking lot? Wherever they can. This was Oliver Green! In his day he was bigger than Jerry Falwell. People came from everywhere. You wouldn't believe the mud, the traffic jams. I was in my best suit up to my ankles in mud directing traffic. The crowds of people, no place to sit. Mud everywhere. It was a howling success. People came back for more.

Alcoholics Ministry

There was a fellow at church who had been an alcoholic. He had a small ministry for alcoholics and was holding down a steady job. He had three or four men at his home. He needed to work at the ministry full time. Jerry financed him and added an alcoholics' ministry to the church.

Unwed Mothers

Someone started a home for unwed mothers. Jerry financed it and added this to the Thomas Road Ministries.

Police Chief

The police chief got saved and came to every service. He said he was glad he had his pistol because he was sitting right in the middle of all the thieves, drunks, and murderers in Lynchburg. Thomas Road was interesting.

Bus Ministry

Thomas Road had a "Bus ministry" phase. Other churches across the country had successful bus ministries. The head of one of these ministries showed up and offered to set up a bus ministry for Thomas Road. Jerry jumped at the chance.

Jerry's management technique was to attach himself to someone who promised great things. If they delivered, great. If they didn't, he walked away from the chaos.

The bus director started with Lynchburg's inner city. He brought out hundreds and hundreds of black children and filled the Sunday Schools with them. They cursed, urinated in the classrooms and halls, picked fights and disrupted the entire Sunday-school program. Macel took her three children out of the Sunday School and brought them into the main sanctuary where they sat in front of me. They climbed over the backs of the pews and giggled and laughed during the service. Jerry ignored them. I didn't.

White children stopped going to Sunday School and at last the bus organizer received word not to send the buses to the inner city. The blacks disappeared overnight and the Sunday School took a long time to recover.

Appointed Administrators

Jerry was impulsive. If he thought something needed to be done, he ordered it done. If he needed help, he helped. If he needed buses, he bought buses. Whatever he thought he needed he went ahead and did it. He owed money all over town. Lots of money. He borrowed in spite of regulations against such things; Lynchburg merchants got tired of not being paid. They were getting in trouble themselves. They filed suit against him. Twice the city had to set up administrators to oversee Thomas Road finances.<sup>2</sup>

Co-Sign

One time Jerry needed money and the banks wouldn't let him have any unless the members of his church signed his note and promised to pay if he didn't. I wasn't at all sure about doing this because my family had gotten into all sorts of trouble in generations past by guaranteeing other people's notes. But, when the paper was put in front of me, I signed. Jerry assured us it was just a formality.<sup>3</sup>

I can't tell you how much this upset me. I had taken someone's word above the Law and had put my own family at risk.

Showtime

Macel played the piano and we sang. We had choirs, quartets, visiting ensembles, soloists, visiting musical groups, living Christmas trees that had 100 people singing on platforms all the way up to the top of the tree. It was a great big thing. We had dignitaries - preachers, billionaires, newspapermen, military heroes - you name it. People liked it. Some spoke on Biblical subjects. Some spoke and sold their books in the lobby. Missionary groups came, spoke and collected money in the lobby. Well known politicians came; Jerry put in a good word for them. It was all part of the show - people came - rain or shine people came. It was fun. Thomas Road was religion's "Disney Land".

The thing that began to bother me was that Jerry was not selective. If he could get a "name" for his service-TV show it got headlines, added to the event, and he was happy. Most <sup>3</sup> "Be not thou one of them that strike hands, or of them that are sureties for debts." Pr 22:26; "A man void of understanding strike hands, and becometh surety in the presence of his friend." Pr 17:18.

"names" that he got were names because the media approved of that person's activities and had given him publicity. Most were liberals who acted "conservative" for the event.

I don't know if Jerry even knew it, but the liberals he associated with were changing his religious perspective. The old timers who helped start his ministry noticed. For years, when he spoke, a group of them met in the basement directly beneath his pulpit and prayed that Jerry would return to the Word that he had started with.

The Washington Trip

Along with several others, Jerry invited me to fly with him to DC to attend a meeting. Some businessmen owned a mutual fund that was losing money and wanted to give it to Jerry and take a tax write-off.

On the way home I explained the regulatory headaches he would inherit along with the gift so he didn't do it. The thing that caught my attention was his conversation with the DC cab driver who drove us to the airport. He was an avid follower of another TV personality. Jerry commented that the person he was referring to was "a competitor of his." That was the first that I knew that people in God's service were competitors.

Separated Schools

As noted before, Jerry got in the school business by taking over the white school organized by ex-Defenders. It was understood that he would continue the school as a separated institution. After a while I noticed a few sons of Esau among the student body and went to see him about it. He said that he had to do it because of tax-reasons. "Just a few do no harm."

He then founded a college. In driving over campus I noted daughters of Jacob walking with sons of Esau. Again I went to see Jerry. He told me not to be concerned, that he had it all worked out and nothing would come of it. He was instituting special classes to teach Biblical rules against interracial dating and marriage. I left disturbed. Students later told me that they never heard of such classes. Now, newspaper announcements of interracial marriages at Liberty University are common.

Separated Congregations

Jerry began having sons of Esau come and perform music from the pulpit stage. He had sons of Esau use his pulpit to speak to his congregation. Sons of-Esau could be seen seated in the congregation. Ignored was the Bible warning:

"We are confounded, because we have heard reproach: shame hath covered our faces: for strangers are come into the sanctuaries of the Lord's house." Jer 51:51.

Turnover

One Sunday while attending service, I woke up to the fact that of the hundreds that I knew when I first joined Thomas Road only a handful were left. They had gone and were replaced by newcomers to Lynchburg. With a few exceptions, Thomas Road had separated itself from those who had built it.

Book Problem

In the meantime I was writing a book - War Cycles/Peace Cycles - a book on usury. Briefly; if there is only $10 in the entire world and you persuade someone to borrow the $10 and promise to repay $11 - he can't do it because there is only $10 in the world. It's simple logic. In time the borrower defaults and loses his collateral. This is why the WORD makes it a capital crime.

My book had come to a standstill. If the Bible approved of usury - that was one thing. If it condemned usury - that was something else. I couldn't seem to get a straight answer out of anyone. I did my homework and called Jerry. He said he'd come down to my office. When he arrived, I told him that I believed that usury was wrong and showed him some 20 pages of reasons. He told me that if I believed that, I should act accordingly.

I groaned, took a big breath and stopped selling bonds. Selling bonds furnished half my income. Two weeks later Thomas Road came out with a new bond issue and sold it to its own members - which made usurers out of Thomas Road members.<sup>4</sup>

The Rabbi

I thought that Jerry had told me that usury was wrong. I went to Thomas Road to get this straight. Jerry was talking to someone else and asked an associate pastor to help me. The associate pastor told me that only Jews were under the Law. He said that if I wanted an answer about the Law dealing with usury I should call the local rabbi.

I called the local rabbi and told him that Thomas Road told me to call him. His brusque manner became pleasant. He agreed that usury was unlawful. Good! But could I take his word? Jews practice Kol Nidre.

Judeo-Christian

Jerry taught that the Jews were God's chosen people, that we were Judeo-Christian, and that both Christians and Jews believed in the Old Testament.

I was speaking to Eldon Purvis' church group in Richmond about money and usury and mentioned that I was a "Judeo-Christian". There was a shocked silence and then they told me what was wrong with being a Judeo-Christian.

The Word vs The Talmud

Jews believe the Talmud:

"Thus the ultimate authority for Orthodoxy is the Babylonian Talmud. The Bible itself ranks second to it in reality, if not in theory. (Universal Jewish Encyclopedia, "Authority" pg 637)

Jews believe their own Messiah is not Jesus Christ, but themselves:

"The throes of mother Zion which is in labor to bring forth the Messiah - without metaphor, the Jewish people." (Kethuboth Illa, Exh 147)

The Jews are their own Messiah.

The Anti-Christ

Our Bible says;

"Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist." 1 John 2:22

The Jews deny that Jesus is the Christ. The WORD says that makes them antichrists.

In searching the matter further I found lists of books written by Jews revealing that Jews are descended, not from Jacob-Israel, but from Khazars-Turks, a tribe of Esau.<sup>5</sup>

The Return

The Bible says that if one denies that Jesus is the Christ that came in the flesh - he is anti-Christ. Jews deny that Jesus came in the flesh. Thomas Road told me that I was a Judeo-Christian - which is half one and half another - which is simply gibberish. Jews also confess that they follow Talmudic law and are descended from Khazarian-Turks who converted to Judaism in the 8th century.

Now, if Jews follow Talmudic law, and admit that they are Khazar-Turks, sons-of-Esau, they can't be sons-of-Jacob, or, Jacob-Israel, the keeper of the LAW.<sup>6</sup>

Things came fast;

"I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel." Matthew 5:24.

And:

"By their acts ye shall know them." Matt 7:20

6 "He showed his word unto Jacob, his statutes and his judgments unto Israel. He hath not dealt so with any nation: and as for his judgments, they have not known them." Ps 147:19- 20

Many things Jerry taught me were true. Many things Jerry taught me were not true. For one thing - the Jews weren't Israel. Who was Jacob-Israel? I was ready for the Declaration.

Scotland's Declaration

I dusted off the ancient Scottish Declaration of Independence where the government of Scotland published their descent from Israel at the time of Robert Bruce. Then, Queen Victoria published her descent from Israel, as did the kings and nobility of Europe. Further, these claims had been investigated time and again were certified as legal by the Catholic Church and Europe's governments who had the proof posted in London, Edinburgh, Stockholm and Rome and other places.

So, this was it. We were Jacob-Israel! Those claiming to be Israel were "Khazar-Turks" - children of Esau. Why the deceit? Simple.

A teacher may read from the Bible and still not teach God's LAWS. If, in the place of God's LAW, he tells his listeners his own opinion of what is good and evil, he speaks as a "guru". The Hindus believe a "guru" speaks as God on earth. This is power! Besides the power that accrues to a Guru,<sup>7</sup> preachers who say that Khazar-Turks are Israel are allowed to use the Khazar-Turk media - which means "Big Time". It is inconceivable that Esau's media would allow anyone to teach the LAW of God-the-WORD and deprogram their captive mind- controlled audience.

Book Finished

My initial assumption in writing War Cycles / Peace Cycles - that the Saxon nation was under God's Law and forbidden to practice usury was correct. I went ahead and published my book. We ARE descended from Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and ARE under God's Law. Everything I had been told as a child was true.

More Information

Starting with Genesis 5:1 in the front of the Bible it says, "This is the book of the generations of Adam." Gen 5:1. "Man" is Hebrew for Adam. Strong's Concordance says, Heb: Adam 119 - "to show blood(in the face), ie: to flush or turn rosy: - be (dyed, made) red(ruddy). "Adam", "Man", blush red - the Bible was written for the generations of Adam-man. Jesus called himself "son-of-man".

Another verse was De 23:2, "A bastard (Heb: mamzêr - mixed breed, mongrel) shall not enter into the congregation of the Lord; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the Lord (Israel)." De 23:2

Adam-man was created by the WORD. Man is to obey the WORD. Not to obey God's Commandments is not to love God.

"If ye love me obey my commandments. John 14:15.

To take the word of a Rabbi, a son-of-Esau, who follows the Talmud violated God's Commandments.

Obedience is proof.

Altar

Jerry had come 180 degrees from when we first met. He had taken a separatist school and turned it into an integrated school. He integrated his college and told me that he was teaching his students the evils of racial intermarriage. Strangers were in the church congregation. The WORD says,

"Shame hath covered our faces: for strangers are come into the sanctuaries of the Lord's house." Jer 51:51 "The stranger (Heb: zûwr - racial alien) that cometh nigh (the tabernacle) shall be put to death." Num 18:7, Num 1:51.<sup>8</sup>

Jerry was always the nice fellow ever willing to help, and help he did. There are many his ministry has helped get on their feet. He helped me.

However, without the Law, the good that Jerry did is no different from the good done by followers of Islam or Buddha.

The WORD is different. It created man, chose Noah and his family, chose Abraham, Isaac and Jacob-Israel, and their Saxon offspring to the end of time. They are chosen to establish God's kingdom here on earth in obedience to the WORD and to care for the earth that God created.

Esau's media remembers Jerry because Jerry endorsed Esau's political candidates and led people to support them.

<sup>8</sup> One can't obey that LAW today because the king forbids it. The rule we are forced to obey is this: "The wrath of a king [is as] messengers of death: but a wise man will pacify it." Pr 16:14; "Then saith he unto them, render therefore unto Caesar the things which are caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's." Math 22:19-21; Taxes are unLawful, but, "Lest we should offend them ... thou shall find a piece of money. That take, and give unto them for me and thee." Matt 17:27. Paul Hill killed the murderers of children, according to Law, and the King killed him because "The wrath of a king is as a messenger of death." The king of the land permits murder when it suits him. Time will tell whether Paul Hill's death was worth his sacrifice.

On Jerry's watch a Buddhist temple has been built on the James without his condemnation, Islamic mosques are springing up all over the land, Jewish synagogues are everywhere, Esau's Hispanic invasion is engulfing the land, racial intermarriages are blessed in his church, and in all this he has seen no evil.

It is for these things Jerry will be judged.

WHITE SLAVES

The Two Enemies

Isaac had two sons: Jacob and Esau. Jacob obeyed the WORD and Esau disobeyed the WORD. Esau left his father's house and became a murderer and a thief. He took wives from the people of the land and spread his seed over the entire world.

"Esau hated Jacob ... and Esau said ... I (will) slay my brother Jacob." Ge 27:41

In the world today, Jacob sees two races - the sons of Jacob and sons of Esau. Esau sees many races.

Esau's World

Esau is rich, intelligent, strong and well-educated. He is also lawless and treacherous. To rule his fellows and his slaves he organizes strict episcopacy organizations, appoints a ruler at the top, and all others stair-step down according to assigned rank and caste.

Occasionally a great leader such as Attila, Saladin, Genghis Khan, or Stalin will emerge and Esau unites and seems invincible. When the ruler dies, or when normal lawlessness and disorganization overwhelms his empire, it disintegrates and his people fight among themselves. But, through it all, Esau has never forgotten his ancient enemy, the children of Jacob whom he blames for his own ills and the misfortunes of the world.

Egypt

The following quote was included in the Bible, which is our history; "This is the book of the generations of Adam." Gen 5:1 We are told that we were once slaves in Egypt and were ruled in the following manner:

"(Pharaoh) placed officers over (the Israelites) from amongst the children of Israel, and over these officers he placed taskmasters from amongst his servants."
Jasher 77:10

Pharaoh arranged matters so that the oppressors most visible were the Israelite slaves he had appointed. Above them and largely out of sight were the Pharaoh's "taskmasters".

Above the "taskmasters" was the Pharaoh himself who was looked upon as God since his edicts were the law-of-the-land, and as law-giver was looked upon as Egypt's God-of-the-land - above all other Egyptian Gods.

The slavery of the children of Israel in Egypt is recorded to remind us not to forget the experience.

The Chain Of Command

To understand the following events remember what the WORD teaches about Esau's chain of command.

First - "Pharaoh"; Second - "taskmasters" chosen from Pharaoh's servants; Third - "officers" selected from the slaves themselves; Fourth - "slaves".

Description Of The Turk

Turks are children of Esau. There are as many breeds of Turks as there are different breeds of American Indians - who are also Turk kinsmen. They differ according to the most recent amalgamation with other breeds accumulated in their travels. The more prominent tribes of Turks bear names given to them by the Chinese according to their attempted invasions of that land.

They loosely share certain traditions and religious beliefs which they have developed into countless sects. Their basic unity comes from their ancient hatred of Jacob.

Turk Government

Turks are well aware of their own shortcomings. They know that they are smart, erratic, irascible, warlike, suspicious and cruel to those who fall into their hands. They also know that self-rule has resulted in one catastrophe after another. Their solution, which is logical in their view, is to have someone better organized to rule them:

"The children of Esau resolved to crown a king over them ... And all the children of Esau swore, saying that none of their brethren should ever reign over them, but a strange man who is not of their brethren, for the souls of all the children of Esau were embittered every man against his son, brother and friend ... Therefore the sons of Esau swore, saying, from that day forward they would not choose a king from their brethren, but one from a strange land unto this day." Jasher 57:38-40

All of this seems strange to us, but we remember the story of how Mohammed and his followers had fought the other rulers of Arabia to a standstill, and these wars had stopped the east-west caravans of the Silk Route for a year. Then, a lone messenger from the east rode to Arabia and declared that Mohammed had been appointed ruler of Arabia. That settled it. The Arabian world rallied behind Mohammed, and soon, Muslim armies embarked on world conquest.

Janissaries

Turks, also sons of Esau, conquered and ruled the Arabs of the near- east. The ruler of the Turks chose his own personal slaves to rule his Turkic nation for him. He called them Janissaries. "Janissary" is a Turkish word meaning "white slave".<sup>1</sup>

Esau's Discovery

Esau knows that Jacob is organized and Lawful by nature while he is disorganized and lawless by nature. Esau determined to use Jacobs' virtues for his own ends by controlling Jacobs' mind.

Turkish fleets raiding Spain, France, Britain and Russia took loot and male children ages 8-10, although some were taken as old as 20. Others were kidnaped in Europe and smuggled to Islam where they were placed with Islamic families until they learned to follow Allah and were grounded in the ways of Islam.

Once they had matured, and their minds had become the minds of a Muslim, they were then assigned to the army or to government civil service. They were the personal slaves of the Turkish ruler and entrusted with ruling native Turks.<sup>1</sup>

Turkish armies, led by tens of thousands of these fanatical blue-eyed Janissary soldiers - who were organized, financed and transported in powerful fleets built by other Janissary civil-service kinsmen - led Islam to the zenith of her power. Under their rule the Mediterranean became an Islamic lake and Christendom trembled.<sup>2</sup>

The Janissary On Leash

Janissary rulers were powerful. To prevent one Janissary ruler from conspiring with another and gaining power over all Islam, the Turkish masters played one group of Janissaries against another group. The result was endless war cycles that

1 "As a man thinketh so is he." Pr 23:7

2 MAMELUKES: In Egypt, Janissary equivalents were called "Mamelukes." These slaves of Islam were the power within the state and furnished 56 consecutive sultans. They furnished the fierce warriors that decimated the Crusaders and chewed up the vaunted invading armies of the Mongols.

kept the Janissaries busy fighting each other. The similarity of the internecine wars of the Janissary-ruled Turkish world and the mindless wars of Europe's kings is striking.

The Hindu

Hinduism is the religion of Esau - the International Merchant. One seldom hears the name "Hinduism" because the Hindu usually wraps himself in the religion of the local God to appear the same as his local customers.

"Brahma" is the Hindu's "World Force" - or universal God. Each of his many personalities is represented by a lesser God such as Buddha, Jesus, or Tao, etc. Even atheists are holy and accepted as another facet of Brahma's many-sided personality. In Hinduism there is no sin and no laws. There is only "mis-conduct". People are seldom executed for mis-conduct - they are imprisoned to give them a chance to reform. There is no need for talk of heaven or hell. Upon death one is immediately reincarnated into another body - a rat or ant if his life has been bad, or a wealthy man or prince if his past life has been good.<sup>3</sup>

General Beliefs

Of its millions of belief systems, the most popular worldwide belief system is Buddhism.

If there were two laws besides the Buddhist universal teaching that frowns on lying, cheating, or stealing - it would be to love one's parents and obey one's government. Buddhism is an export belief system long banished from India.

Hindu Beliefs

The Hindu sect with the most power is that of Siva, the sex god. Where Esau rules, sex rules.

For instance, In India there was a practice called Devi-Daci. Hindu families donated their daughters to a local Hindu temple to be used as prostitutes by the priests and the public. Hollywood furnishes a near comparison.

Kali is Siva's consort. Kali is the goddess of death. She too is black. She is pictured standing on a dead white devil. Wherever the ITC rules, Kali and her consort Siva are worshiped - sex and death - usually under different names. Most often they disguise themselves as Buddha or Jesus, but the color they worship is black. To them black is holy.

Blacks themselves are often worshiped simply because of their holy color. They are given awards, wealth, help, and fame. They have streets, parks, buildings and events named in their honor. This honor and worship is given for reasons almost incomprehensible to the Saxon mind; they represent Kali's agents of destruction and death. Everything to which they are joined dies in time, or is destroyed in an orgy of rape, blood and fire. To the followers of Kali, this is good. It brings closer the end of the present evil age of Kaliyuga.

It is no accident that Esau's media reports only the smallest fraction of black crime. In Western countries, when blacks are arrested for some crime, their punishment is usually a slap on the wrist. Newspapers revel in their riots and city burnings - and then they become non-events - allowing the Saxon to forget his injuries.

Esau intends that Jacob should die - quietly if possible. This will remove the final obstacle to the end of the Kaliyuga age with the extinction of life. Then, life on earth can begin again in a new and better age.

Work Of the White Slave

Jacob won its war against Esau in Rhodesia. Rhodesia's leader, a white-slave named Ian Smith, turned his country over to the blacks who promptly went about killing and stealing from the sons-of-Jacob. The latest word is that this Smith person and his possessions still remain safe, but fellow liberals who helped him betray his nation have not fared as well. Esau has turned on the very Janissaries who gave them their country.

Duke

Mike Nifong, the N. Carolina district attorney was disbarred after an ethics panel said that he had repeatedly lied and withheld evidence in trying to make the case that three white Duke students had raped a black stripper.

A search of the internet yields no clue as to Nifong's race, or even his religious affiliation, making it difficult to discover whether his conduct was the normal conduct of one of the sons-of- Esau or the conduct of a son-of-Jacob having the mind of Esau.

The same cannot be said of the 88 members of the Duke faculty who took out a newspaper ad supporting the accuser without even hearing the evidence. This extreme antisaxonite mind-set is what history teaches us to expect from Janissaries who will attack their own God chosen kinsmen<sup>4</sup> on the unsubstantiated word of a child of Esau, and who will doubtlessly march with Esau should Esau's push become a shove. Meanwhile, they teach our children.<sup>4</sup>

Alternate Media

In recent years, Jacob has created an alternate media similar to the "Committee of Correspondence" used with such success before the American Revolution.

To sabotage this effort, Esau has given money, mailing lists and free-rein to his Janissaries to capture the mind of Jacob. They may say anything they like to win the mind of Jacob - anything - except one. There is one thing they are not allowed to say; They may NOT quote chapter and verse from the WORD as their Law. To do so establishes the WORD as absolute final authority. This, Esau will not tolerate.

In years gone by, I often phoned Dr. W. G. Finley, of the Covenant Message in S. Africa to inquire about current affairs. In passing he told me about an American visitor who is today well known and quoted widely as a Separatist icon. Dr. Finley said that this person said things to him in far away South Africa that he would not dare say to his conservative audiences in America. Neither would he quote the LAW of the WORD because he was a follower of the Law-of-the-land - a different God entirely..

Orval Faubus, George Wallace, J. Lindsay Almond of Virginia, Thurmond of South Carolina, Ian Smith of Rhodesia, and DeKlerk of South Africa first aroused the suspicion of those loyal to the WORD when they refused to speak its Law to justify their stands. Deceived, their kinsmen were led to defeat and slavery. They were Janissaries - they did the job they had been chosen to do.

<sup>4</sup> FALSE WITNESS: "If a false witness rise up ... Then shall ye do unto him, as he had thought to have done unto his brother." De 19:16- 19. The Law declares; "If a man ... force her, and lie with her: then the man only that lay with her shall die." Deut: 22:25. The Duke 88 declared innocent students guilty of a crime punished by death without proof. Discovered to be false witnesses, the Law concerning false witnesses applies. When God's Kingdom comes God's Law will be enforced.

It remains my opinion that nine out of ten right-wing newsletters and web-sites claiming to represent Christian Separatism are the work of Janissaries. The unchangeable stamp of the WORD that gives legitimacy to their speech is missing. Readers would be wise to give this thought. After all, it is written;

"Esau was a designing and deceitful man, one who hunted after the hearts of men and he stole their minds." Jasher 29:20.

We should expect the same from his slaves.

Conclusion

To a knight of Christendom defending his nation and his home against invaders it makes no difference whether the warrior advancing to kill him is a Turk or his Janissary white slave.

Esau has trained his white-slaves to be our priests, teachers, judges and lawmen - just as in the days of Pharaoh. They serve their masters and his God and oppress us and reject God the WORD.

In the day we separate ourselves from Esau we shall leave these slaves with their masters and the two will become one while we shall live alone: "So shall we be separated ... from all the people that are upon the face of the earth." Ex 33:16

The WORD does not lie, things will take place as they did before:

"The hand of Pharaoh continued to be severe against the children of Israel, and he crushed and oppressed them until the time when God sent forth his WORD and took notice of them." Jasher 71:16

The WORD saved us then - it will save us now:

"It came to pass, when they had heard the law, that they separated from Israel all the mixed multitudes." Neh 13:3; "And the seed of Israel separated themselves from all strangers (5236 ne^ka^r - strange, alien)." Neh 9:2

God can will this to come to pass peacefully - or not. The fate of Esau's white-slaves will depend on them.

One last thing:

The Janissaries existed between late 1300s and 1826 - about 450 years. One morning, Esau's prime directive was activated once again, "I will kill my brother Jacob".

The Turkish ruler secretly issued orders and on the same day all over the empire, Islam's Janissaries were slaughtered. The Sons- of-Esau did their work quickly, by the tens of thousands, Janissary white-slaves were slaughtered like pigs. And the Children-of-Jacob praised God.

Dear Mr. Hoskins: We are having a general strike by blacks. First the civil service, next the mines, and finally, others out sympathy. This is an organized effort by the communist trade unions as the next stage in the S. African communist revolution. The teachers' strikes are most unsettling. Some whites join blacks "toi-toying" in the street (black football players dance). Leaders of blacks ruling groups have continually told their followers that it is their right to take money wherever they can get it. After all, they had it bad in the apartheid days. Their nature makes it easy to bring about wholesale anarchy.

The old South African civil service never paid employees much, but now, these new bosses give themselves huge salaries. They gossip and make grand plans while services deteriorate, pipes burst, there are electrical blackouts and rampant crime. Beaches, now highly dangerous, used to be such a pleasure for walks. Now one is bound to be raped, robbed or murdered. The swimming areas are dirty and black behavior is terrible.

Hans went to the Ransburg licensing department and found the doors closed. He went around back and found the blacks in their offices chatting, eating and phoning their friends. The official phones were off the hook in all departments. People buy cars and cannot get them registered.

I suppose white liberals are the same the world over. Here they collect for the black poor and never give a thought for their own poor. In the meantime, they, along with all the rest of us suffer from black on white misconduct. Diepslaats squatters still cut our telephone poles to get the cable copper to sell to the nearest scrap-yards for a few rand. But, something positive comes from all this mess, liberals are being cured at a fast rate.

I phoned Betzy. She was in Pretoria with a child who fell from a horse at the "weekend parents", and broke something. Last night I phoned her to hear the outcome; a broken arm. She took the little one home after they put the arm in a splint.

The "affirmative" who is working with Maria left to go to another company. She could not cope with computers in spite of her "certificate of qualification". Maria's firm must send her to Switzerland for a course on worldwide computer systems, but she can't get her passport updated because of the striking blacks.

When going to town we drove past the "Irene Concentration Camp" of the Boer War (1899-1903) where Johanna Brandt helped as a nurse. She commented on how little she could do for the sick. She buried the bodies of six little children in one grave. Imagine being forced to sleep on the bare ground in freezing cold without warm clothing or blankets. The British burned their bundles of clothes and blankets that they carried from their houses before they too were burned. Making matters impossible was that most of the captives came from semitropical areas. Most died. I understand they treated American civilians badly in 1776 and 1812. German survivors of British camps tell us they treated them harshly in 1945.

The Dutch Reform Church now ignores Biblical sin. All that is left is a cult. Homosexuals are preachers and people worry about their children. All races and all opinions are welcome.

A bright light is that the Christian schools are doing well and, most important, those at Afrikaans Universities are really waking up and taking a stand for the Afrikaners' liberty, his anthem, his flag and they are holding meetings.

With our best wishes, K.J.

Letter From The Loeries

April 2007

Dear Mr. & Mrs Hoskins,

The kids in our care are coping very well. Our first grade 12 student, Bennie, completed school successfully last year. This year we have 4 matriculants, which of course means that this will be their last year with us. Three of them have been with us since the first day Loerie's doors opened.

We started off this year with 24 kids and welcomed three new- comers into our family - a pair of twins, Nathan and Niche Pel (age 8) and their elder brother Marcel (in Grade 8). Which means we now have 3 pairs of twins. We now have 27 Loeries.

We thank your readers once again from the bottom of our hearts. I can assure you, although the children are still young, they do appreciate everything that is done for them.

Attached are photos of all 27 of our children as promised. We are definitely going to send you more news and photos this year.

Thank you again,
Willie Hoffman,

It must either be that again or the flag should go back into the glass case in the museum where it can be respected in memories. # Chapter 395

CITIES

A merchant must have a product to sell, a place where it can be sold, and the blessing of the customer's God so that he will not be harmed while engaged in business.

Virginia Before The War

Virginia was once virtually off limits to the international merchant. The reason was obvious. There was little the international merchant offered that Virginians wanted.

Virginia had numerous towns but no real cities. Before the War, Lynchburg had 4,000 year around residents, Richmond had 20,000, and Norfolk had 30,000. Most everyone lived on their own self- sufficient farms and produced their own wealth. They had ample free time to develop their own cottage industry whose products satisfied their own needs and the needs of their neighbors. With few exceptions, the goods of the international merchant were neither needed nor wanted.

Buena Vista

Buena Vista is up the river from Lynchburg just over the Blue Ridge where the James River forks. Before the War it contained a warehouse and a few houses. Canal boats coming up the James with cargo destined for the other fork would store its cargo in the Buena Vista warehouse until it was picked up by a boat going up the other fork.

I used to drive through Buena Vista in the '40s. It was strange looking. It had lampposts in the middle of pastures with cows grazing around them. There were two impressive three or four story red-brick city office buildings - lone sentinels standing in otherwise vacant city blocks. A little way out of town, on the way to Natural Bridge was a big deserted hotel in a wheat field on a low hill. One wing was finished, and another wing was partly finished. There were a few houses scattered about.

Planned Cities

Buena Vista was a "planned city" or a "promoted city" - one that wasn't successful. After the War the "victors" changed Virginia's laws and Cartel promoters freely bought land, gained a charter, and built a city to attract people to work the nearby mines which had produced low grade ore for 100 years. However, the mines played out and the promoters left Buena Vista only partly finished to build elsewhere. Its skeleton was left to amaze passers-by.

Overnight Cities

"Big Lick" was a winner. The promoters brought in Railroad yards and repair shops and changed its name to "Roanoke".

In Lynchburg, the first thing they did was to build the 1st National Bank. The cornerstone reads "1865" - the year the War ended. Next, they built cotton mills and a steel mill and Lynchburg began to grow. It grew from 4,000 to 50,000 by the time I was a boy and is now 70,000 or thereabouts.

The question often asked is, why did Virginians want the international merchants after the War when they wanted almost nothing to do with them before the war?

Replacing The Farm

The traditional Self-Sufficient Farm provided wealth, food, increased herds, and considerable free time for their cottage industry to fashion tools, make machines, operate blast furnaces, weave cloth, make harness and wagons, and countless other items. Every creek had its mill. Much of the wealth created by their cottage industry was exchanged for things they did not have. It produced far more wealth than the city- system of the North. It provided most of the exports and far more than half the countries' tariff income which was spent mostly in the urban North.

It also provided work and sustenance for growing families and care for the aged. The Albemarle County "poor house" had two rooms and stood vacant most of the time.

There was little need for money or cities in Virginia. The SSF system did everything and did it better - before the War.

Exchanging Commodities

The exchange of commodities most often took place at the crossroads country store. The store owner charged one item out of ten for disposing of the rest of a consignment. What was not sold was returned to the creator of the wealth along with the admonition to better manage his efforts in the future.

Millers charged one bushel of wheat out of each ten they ground to flour. Sometimes there were several stores specializing in different items. These grouping were usually located at a crossroads. This was called a "town". Money was seldom used.

Good times arrived with good weather - not with the boom and bust market economy of the city. Virginia was completely unaware of the depression that ravaged Pennsylvania and much of the north in the 1850s. The self-sufficient farm system is God's natural wealth creating system and is insulated from the vagaries of Esau's market economy.

The life of untaxed farmers was vastly different from the lives of people living in the city-system. Europeans experienced the last of their self-sufficient farms with the arrival of Charlemagne's Empire in the 800s. It was my good fortune to have grown up in the ruins of such a farm system. It is a shame that the on-going conquest of the West required its destruction.

Wars

There were many attempts to destroy Virginia's farm-kingdoms and seize and make merchandise of the people and their land. Following is a proclamation of one of Lincoln's generals;

"In 1862, General Pope was appointed to command the Federal Army of Virginia. ... He ... made a speech to his army to the effect that he did not approve of this protecting the property of the rebels, and that he intended that his army should subsist, that is, live on, the country through which they passed." (Virginia History, For the Young, p.200, J.P.Bell Co, Lynchburg, VA 1897)<sup>1</sup>

This was official authorization to steal, loot, rape, and murder. It came from the top. Only recently has the population of Amherst County, across the James from Lynchburg, grown larger than it was in 1864-1865 when it was swollen by the flood of refugees fleeing the barbarous Union armies. These refugees felt that it was better to live in the woods under lean-tos, half-starved in the freezing snow, than to live in their own houses behind union lines and suffer the atrocities inflicted by the invaders.

To carry out the Cartel program, Sheridan burned the Valley from one end to the other, homes, barns, mills, out-buildings - and forbade the refugees to take food and warm clothing before applying the torch. Sherman burned the farms and towns of Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina.

<sup>1</sup> "Federal armies pillaged and plundered their way through the Southern states for the duration of the war, and Lincoln supported several confiscation bills that allowed them to plunder private property as they went." The Real Lincoln, Thomas J. Dilorenzo, Forum, 2002 p150; "Lincoln championed the leaders of the European revolutions of 1848." James McPherson Abraham Lincoln & the 2nd American Rev. p.24, Dec 1992

Missouri was left a depopulated wasteland. My great-great grandfather watched Lincoln overseeing Union soldiers systematically destroy the Kelly barns and flocks at Kelly's Ford.

These depredations were not accidental. They were done according to plan. The purpose was to stamp out the self-sufficient farm system and replace it with the market-economy of the international merchant - the city!

Lee's 20,000 men unconditionally surrendered to Grant's 200,000 men at Appomattox. This removed the last armed resistance in Virginia.

The Reconstruction

Immediately, the defeated Southland was reconstructed so that it could be properly incorporated into "the city".

Disarmed Southern whites were deprived of the vote which was given to blacks. Blacks were also given rule over the whites. Governors, senators, congressmen, city councils, state legislatures, police, militias were black - all this took place under the protection of federal occupation bayonets. What is now happening in South Africa is a carbon copy of what the blacks did to the American Southland.

Under direction of Republican "carpetbaggers", black legislators voted themselves enormous salaries and taxed farmland to pay for them. Tariffs were placed on formerly cheap imports so that farm implements became expensive. Differential freight rates made it more costly to ship goods by rail from Richmond to NY than from NY to Richmond. These rates weren't removed until the 1950s. All this was carefully planned.

Virginia's farms produced food and articles from cottage industries, but they did not grow money. Taxes had to be paid in cash. There was no cash. Farms went on the auction block for whatever land would bring. Land-companies owning millions of acres were the only ones bidding. Land at Kelly's ford, valued at $850 an acre in 1858, was sold at 50¢ an acre in 1900.<sup>2</sup>

The War Between The States was fought to remove the South's Self-Sufficient Farm System and replace both it and its law system with the international trade cartel's "city". It was a complete success.

Cheap food from domestic and foreign corporate-farms undersold the few farms that survived. Stripped of their land and having no way to support their families, jobless, landless refugees flocked to Lynchburg seeking work. Cartel planners had prepared for this and the town was ready to receive them. When I was growing up Virginia's countryside was a land of deserted farm houses and deserted country churches whose cemeteries dated back more than 200 years. The hundreds who had attended them had gone.

The Cartel built rickety company housing along with the ubiquitous company store. Then, they moved their New England mill operations to Lynchburg where labor was cheap and plentiful. Destitute Virginians stood in line for a chance to labor 15 hour a day for a pittance to keep their families from starving. The Southern farmer, perhaps a bit more roughly treated, was now equally a slave with his northern kinsmen who hadn't a clue as to what was taking place, or why.

Protocols

Henry Ford's The Dearborn Independent in its expose of the Protocols chose to highlight "land". Here is its summary pertaining to Protocol #VI:

"The farmer's strong advantage is that, owning the land, he is independent in his sources of livelihood. The land will feed him whether he pleases International Financiers or not. His position is impregnable as long as the sun shines and the seasons roll. ..."

Wars Against The Independent Farmer

For almost a thousand years, Britain has been a janissary-agent of the International Trade Cartel. During the on-going Indian hostilities against America's Saxon settlers, the British government often sided with the Indians against their own flesh and blood, furnishing leaders and equipment for Indian war parties who raped and murdered old and young, male and female. The Indian incentive was to kill the White man as a religious offering to their God Okee who ate pain. They offered captured members of neighboring tribes and even their own children when offerings were scarce. The British government used the Indian customs for their own ends, which was to destroy the independent farms and prevent the inevitable opposition to "the city" empire.

"In 1817, Creeks who had joined the Seminoles in Florida incited them to war. General Jackson was sent against them and seized St. Mar's in 1818. Two British subjects, Ambrister and Arbuthnot, were captured at that time. Jackson knew these types and, like Lew Wetzel, was not squeamish about killing them. On the charge that they encouraged the Indians to kill Whites, he executed them as renegades." Vigilantes Of Christendom, p125<sup>3</sup>

During the Revolutionary War, the Crown sent its armies into the Carolinas and Virginia where they burned farms. In the war of 1812, the British landed on Virginia's Northern Neck and again burned and destroyed farms. They captured slaves and sold them into the Caribbean. The destruction of the independent farm system is necessary if the Cartel's city-system is to exist in their place.

In 1861, the Union army lived off the land. It was part of their plan. There are great stretches of the American Southland with almost no farm buildings standing dating prior to 1861 to mark where self-sufficient-farms and their nearby trading villages once stood.

In 1899-1902, the British Empire's scorched-earth policy destroyed South Africa's self-sufficient farms, slaying vast herds, and confining survivors in concentration camps where they died like flies. After that, South Africa's cities grew like mushrooms.

The City Spreads Worldwide

In 1924, Russia's self-sufficient farms were collectivized and 5,000,000 farmers were starved. Cities like Moscow immediately began to spread over the countryside.

After the German collapse in WWII, the eastern German farming region was given to Polish communists to collectivize. A large number of the 9 million Germans who died after the war died during their expulsion from their ancestral lands.

The U.S., the pretended ally of nationalist Chiang Kai-shek, withheld war material and allowed Mao to conquer all of China. Mao promptly collectivized ancient family holdings and imprisoned or executed millions of "land owners". Today, China's cities are unable to hold the great number of farm refugees and the Chinese government is in the process of building 40 new cities to house and better police this potentially explosive force.

In 1985, a great farm rally was held in Nebraska protesting bank foreclosures and mass corporate farming. Esau's media universally condemned the gathering and puppet politicians ignored their plight. The rally failed, and the last of America's independent farms have almost disappeared from the land. America's cities continue to experience a housing building-boom from the displacement of populations.

The Path Of Destruction

The Hindu is the world's international trader. In theory, Hindus accept all Gods as different manifestations of their own God. Hindus seldom call themselves "Hindu", preferring to use the names of local Gods to help business. Their common denominator is their obedience to ancient beliefs and laws.

Called by different names, the ruling Hindu god of this age is Kali - Goddess of death. She is the destroyer. Hindus believe that this is her age - the age of Kaliyuga - which will end when all life ends - once the white devils who stand in her way and hinder her progress are removed.

Her spirit, many millennia old, is alive and well and the success of her march is told many ways in the Hindu Puranas. An internet search reveals the same story told and re-told many ways but with the same basic predictions. A brief synopsis follows:

Apocalypse for the Hindu is the natural ending of the world in the fourth age, the Kali Age. Vishnu will appear again as Kalki, a winged white horse. She is destined to destroy the present world and take humanity to a different, higher plane.

All kings occupying the earth in the Kali Age will be prone to take the paltry possessions of others, having character that is mostly vile, rising to power and soon falling. They will be short-lived, ambitious, of little virtue, and greedy. People will follow the customs of others and be adulterated with them; peculiar, undisciplined barbarians will be vigorously supported by rulers. People will commit sin in mind, speech, and actions. Quarrels, plague, fatal diseases, famines, drought, and calamities appear.

In the Kali Age, there will be many false religionists. People will freely commit abortion. Earth will be valued only for her mineral treasures.

Money alone will confer nobility. Power will be the sole definition of virtue. Praise worthiness will be measured by accumulated wealth. Simply to be well dressed will signify propriety. The pretense of greatness will be the proof of it, and powerful men with many severe faults will rule over all the classes on earth. People will suffer from cold, wind, heat and rain. Thus in the Kali Age humankind will be utterly destroyed.

Results

There is nothing supernatural about seeing this ancient prophecy unfold before our eyes. Esau's cartel believes it to be inevitable. Since they believe it to be inevitable they use their enormous wealth gained through their usury banking system; hoarded in their great international corporations; and administered by their merchant managers and puppet kings, to bring it to pass precisely as written many thousands of years ago; the wars, famines and suffering come about because they are ordained by their God.

They fully expect the evil they do to result in good. These Hindu prophecies are heard over and over, mantra like. They have the wealth and power to make them self-fulfilling.

But before their ultimate victory, the white devils standing in the way of Kali's victory must die. To hasten their destruction - their habitat must be destroyed - the self-sufficient farm.

The City - Esau's Trap

Today's city is Esau refuge for those he has made homeless and destitute. With their homes destroyed, the city is the only haven remaining, a haven which is also a prison.

In the city one must depend on the cartel for his livelihood. One's wealth is no longer God-given from the land. Man must now obtain Esau's magic-money to pay for his bread, shelter, tax- tribute, medicine, and retirement. He must even obtain a permit to conduct business. Esau's media-monopoly tells him what to think, and rebels are quickly hounded into silence, killed, fired, fined, or imprisoned. Scrimping and saving, retirement and hospital bills reduce many to becoming beggers overnight.<sup>4</sup> Above all, he is required to be tolerant of other Gods and obedient to their laws even when it means disobeying God the WORD.

Killer Stress

It is stressful for a race-horse to pull a plow. It is stressful for a little Pekingese dog to herd cattle. City life is stressful to the Saxon.

The city-system generates worry and stress and drastically reduces the Saxon's birthrate, which now stands at 1.6, far below the required 2.1 children per family needed to maintain status quo. On the other hand, Esau thrives in his cities, as he should - it is his habitat.

In spite of TV, new houses, and football - Jacob does not prosper in Esau's city - it is alien to him. This is why Esau and his agents destroyed Jacob's habitat and forced him into the city. Esau plans to destroy his hated brother, so he will disappear from the earth and allow Kali's day to arrive.

The Other Road

Unfortunately for Esau, when he makes war with Jacob he makes war with Jacob's God. The Scriptures say that in the beginning; "The world was made by him." John 1:10

God made the world and assigned ownership, "The earth he hath given to the children of Adam." Ps 115:16. He then directed how it was to be ruled, "The land shall be divided." Nu 26:55. Finally, "The land shall not be sold forever: for the land is mine." Lev 25:23

Esau and his puppets have forced Jacob from his land and have taken and sold it like a pair of shoes. God said he wanted his people to live alone; Esau and his puppet rulers and priests have brought a flood of Esau's children to take Jacob's land and eat up his substance.

These unlawful invaders are breaking God's Law and trespassing on God's land.

But this, too, is prophesied. "For Esau is the end of the world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth." II Esdras 6:9

The time is late. God's WORD is eternal. The following will come to pass as written:

"The eternal God is thy refuge ... and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee; and shall say, Destroy them. Israel then shall dwell in safety alone: the fountain of Jacob shall be upon a land of corn and wine; also his heavens shall drop down dew." Deut 33:27-28; "And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will give unto Gog a place there of graves in Israel." Eze 39:11

"Israel then shall dwell in safety alone." Deut 33:28;

Dear Mr. Hoskins; Our telephone service is interrupted every few days. Cell phones have become essential. Most of the electricity problems come from mismanagement. The government has closed down power stations and has gotten rid of white staff. The money saved is added to management's already big salaries.

Young people on horseback carrying our own flags went to commemorate the dead at the Irene Concentration Camp. Every year they go to a different camp.

We do not know or intend to learn any of the new names that the black government have given to our towns. Blacks and Jews did not build them. We did.

The new thing for blacks is to blow up ATMs to get the money. They use dynamite their pals bring from the mines. Recently, one misjudged and lost both arms.

Radio Pretoria told their listeners not to buy anything from China, especially food as it contains poisons. The clothes they sell are of a very poor quality.

Years ago there was a book written about the Anglo-Boer War. The author was a Michael Douitt (1846-1906). He was an Irish nationalist who was imprisoned for 7 years by the British for his part in one of the Irish revolts. After his release he was elected as a member of parliament several times, but each time disqualified because of his previous convictions. When he finally was allowed to become a member in 1895 he served till 1899. In that year he resigned, protesting Britain's invasion of South Africa. Thereafter he paid a visit to the two Republics and from that he wrote a book "The Boer Fight For Freedom", 1902, which he completed before the war was over. This was one of the few books on the war written from our viewpoint.

The TV reported "Redhead Harry" as saying that they held the concert for Diana to keep the commoners happy. These people have an irritating way of flaunting their inherited position.

A friend of Maria left with her husband and two sons and went to England. Finally, they went to Canada. She was strict with her boys but the ordinary English schools are so bad that they were set back two standards on arriving in Canada.

The inferiority of the ordinary British school is fairly common knowledge. Their massive Imperial armies were just as dumb and did the most foolish things during the Anglo-Boer War which led to defeat after defeat sometimes when they had a ten to one advantage. It may be that England's real rulers plan to keep the ordinary people dumb.

Hoskins Report subscribers' money reached the Loeries without any problems. They had a commemoration day which we could not attend. An Afrikaans singer entertained them. Afterwards some people came to Betzy and offered their help. The Loeries built an addition to their home and spruced up everything. A long needed 3-phase electricity unit was installed. The other one always cut out. The youngsters helped with the renovation and showed a lot of spirit.

The government has now passed a law allowing dogs to be eaten. We look on dogs as pets. Eating dogs presents another problem. Rodents thrive in towns and cities because blacks throw garbage in the streets. Until now, dogs have kept the rodent population in check.

We need your prayers in these days. Heavily armed blacks kill whites at a terrible rate. Once again we thank our kinsmen in America for their help. The times are grim. Our God sees how his people suffer under the heel of the heathen. God bless, K.J.

INVASION: HR #230, Nov 1993 "Dear Mr. Hoskins: The #229 Hoskins Report observation that the Khazar Turks had joined hands with the Arab Turks is important. Ezekiel 38 prophesied that those of God, (descended from Japheth but now mixed among the non-Adamic Turko/Mongolian Khazars), Persia (now Iran), Ethiopia (once the southern border of Egypt and occupied by the peoples of Cush - son of Ham), Put (once the Libyan region west of Egypt), Gomer (descended from Japheth and now mingled with Turko/Mongolian Khazars), Bethtogarmah (Togarmah descended from Japheth and mixed with Turko/Mongolian Khazars) would be summoned in the latter years and come like a storm to cover the land of true Israel, and that they would devise an evil plan and say, "I will go up against the land of unwalled villages, to those who are at rest and living securely, without walls, bars or gates to capture a spoil and seize plunder." And didn't Ezekiel prophesy that Israel in her naivete would say, "have you come to take a spoil, to plunder us?"

"Our Celto-Saxon nations worldwide are experiencing the take-over of our commerce, our land, our homes by the Pakis, the Chinese, the Indians of India, the Japanese, the Syrians, the Lebanese, the Khazar Jews, the Koreans, the Vietnamese, the Iranians, the Egyptians, the Saudis, ad infinitum ad nauseum. They are taking their plunder, and we naively say, "Are you really here to take a spoil, to plunder us?"

"Ezekiel indicates that these Turko/Mongolian people will realize the bounty that is available in these lands of sleeping Celto- Saxons and will come with a 'great assembly and a mighty army.' This may mean military might in order to finish the takeover, but if you look around at the 'warfare' (as it is termed by the Japanese) that is being waged against American business and property, you can see that we have already been attacked, and we are losing. And, as you say, all in accordance with the consequences of Deuteronomy 28 when God's Covenant People do not follow His Law.

"The rest of Ezekiel 38 and 39 tells how it all turns out."
M. J. - Oregon

RKH: Today, America is fighting the Arab/Turks in the Mideast - while Islamic peoples are invading Europe and America in massive numbers. This could not be possible without the OK of the Khazar- Turks. This means that America's war in the mid-east is a smokescreen to hide the on-going invasion of the West.

 IMMIGRATION: HR #234 - 1994) "Dear Mr. Hoskins: What reason does the establishment have for allowing the mass immigration of strangers?" M. G. - Mississippi RKH: Read what "The Decline & Fall of The Roman Empire, p 273, has to say about what happened in Alexandria: "The lucrative trade of Arabia and India flowed through the port of Alexandria to the capitol and provinces of the empire. ... But the people of Alexandria, a various mixture of nations, united the vanity and inconsistency of the Greeks with the superstition and obstinacy of the Egyptians. The most trifling occasion, a transient scarcity of precedence in the public baths, or a religious dispute, were at any time sufficient to kindle a sedition among that vast multitude, whose resentments were furious and implacable. After ... the authority of the laws were relaxed, the Alexandrians abandoned themselves to the ungoverned rage of their passions, and their unhappy country was the theatre of a civil war, which continued (with a few short and suspicious truces) above 12 years. ... Every street was polluted with blood, every building of strength converted into a citadel; nor did the tumults subside, till a considerable part of Alexandria was irretrievably ruined." (footnote: "This long and terrible sedition was first occasioned by a dispute between a soldier and a townsman about a pair of shoes.")

Different people have different gods. Different gods demand that their followers obey their laws which may conflict with the laws of another god. To prevent chaos, a powerful third party ruler must then judge their disputes.

The international merchant encourages the strife so the people will demand an all powerful ruler to bring about peace. The great merchant can then trade and transact business on his own terms. Nothing has changed. Today's establishment encourages aliens and their gods to enter our land to create chaos so that in time the people will demand a strong puppet government who can "legally" exercise the power to judge between the gods and their peoples. In time, the waves of immigrant aliens will give the establishment the power of a god on earth.

Hail Caesar!

HINDU/CHRISTIANS: Dear Richard; Did I understand you to say that Jesus Christ is a lessor God of the Hindu? S.L. - Oregon

RKH: Hinduism accepts all Gods as different facets of Brahma - the "World Force". A Hindu may proclaim himself a Christian. In his house he may have a shrine in which is a likeness of Christ along with likenesses of Vishnu and Kali. Does he worship Christ? Certainly, along with Vishnu and Kali. The WORD separates the wheat from the chaff; "By their acts ye shall know them."

If you believe their talk, Hollywood whores, and politicians swimming in Washington's "cess-pool" are also "Christians" - the non- judgmental, more tolerant Christian kind.

MOON LANDING

When I was seven years old I lived in Culpeper with my grandparents while Mother and Dad lived in New York. Dad was always going back to medical school to learn something new. My brother John died from Leukemia and Dad had this thing about trying to learn as much as he could about his profession. He ended up having four different specialities. It took a lot of time. The good part is that I spent a lot of time on the farm.

My main job was sweeping Granddad's furniture store. I made 15¢ a week. On Saturday afternoon I walked to town to see the movies; the movie was 10¢ and popcorn 5¢.

It was always a cowboy movie with a serial. The serial I liked best was Flash Gordon. "Flash" flew back and forth to the moon and all over the Solar System - and that was back in 1935. Grandmother told me it was all make believe, but I had seen it with my own eyes. It's hard to make up things like that. I was seven and knew better.

Sputnik

Russia beat America into space by putting a satellite in orbit around earth. They called it "Sputnik"

America got to work and poured billions into a space effort, and, before you could say "Jack Robinson" we showed the "Commies" a thing or two - we put a man on the moon. Not only did we put a man on the moon - we put three men on the moon.

This accomplishment came just before the Soviets put an unmanned "probe" on the moon. A probe was the best they could do while we landed three men who planted an American flag, did exercises, made fantastic jumps in the moon's low gravity, left a monument to commemorate the occasion, made speeches, took photographs and movies, and did scientific work.

America's Triumph

BBC had this to say for the history books:

"1969: American Neil Armstrong has become the first man to walk on the Moon.

"The astronaut stepped onto the Moon's surface, in the Sea of Tranquillity, at 0256 GMT, nearly 20 minutes after first opening the hatch on the Eagle landing craft.

"His colleague Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin watched from inside the lunar module and spoke the first words of man on the Moon: "Tranquillity base. The Eagle has landed."

"As he put his left foot down first Mr Armstrong declared: "That's one small step for man but one giant leap for mankind."

"He described the surface as being like powdered charcoal and that the landing craft left a crater about a foot deep. "The historic moments were captured on television cameras installed on the Eagle and turned on by Armstrong. Armstrong spent his first few minutes on the moon taking photographs and soil samples in case the mission had to be aborted suddenly.

"He was joined by Aldrin at 0315 GMT and the two collected data and performed various exercises - including jumping across the landscape - before planting the Stars and Stripes flag at 0341 GMT.

"They also unveiled a plaque bearing President Nixon's signature and an inscription reading: 'Here men from the planet earth first set foot upon the Moon July 1969 AD. We came in peace for all mankind.'

"After filming their experience with a portable television camera the astronauts received a message from the US President. President Nixon, in the White House, spoke of the pride of the American people and said: "This certainly has to be the most historic telephone call ever made.

"Many other nations - including the UK - sent messages of congratulation. Moscow Radio announced the news solemnly in its 1030 GMT broadcast. As Aldrin and Armstrong collected samples, Michael Collins told mission control in Houston he had successfully orbited the Moon in the mother ship."<sup>1</sup>

Practice

Billions of dollars went into the space program. Nothing was left to chance. The media said that when our astronauts were preparing for the moon event, they blasted into orbit and circled the earth many times.

To return, they prodded their space capsule in the direction they wanted to go with small directional rockets. This is how they got into a proper descending orbit. The space capsule then gradually descended until it reached the earth's lower atmosphere whereupon it released a parachute to descend the rest of the way, softly landing in the ocean where they were rescued by America's navy.

We must have seen moving pictures of these parachute descents and "splashdowns" a zillion times. The media and the government talked about it constantly. This is the way it is done on earth.

The Problem

About the actual technical details concerning the moon landing the commentators were a bit more hazy. Moon landings are tricky, to say the least. In theory, it is easier to land on far away Mars than to land on the nearby moon. The reason is that Mars has an atmosphere which might allow parachutes to be used to land, just like they are used when landing on Earth.

The moon is different. It has no atmosphere and so another method of landing had to be found. This is the part the commentators get vague. Exactly, how did the astronauts get down to the surface of the moon safely?

The Plan

The plan was made to launch a moon rocket which would go into orbit around the moon. This orbiting moon platform would then launch a smaller rocket-powered capsule which would descend to the moon's surface.

The Pictorial Record

There are moving pictures showing practice space rockets taking off into space. We are told that they orbited earth several times, and then, there are pictures of these same space rockets descending by parachute and subsequently splashing down into the ocean. These pictures are complete with helicopters buzzing about and boats standing by to rescue the space voyagers. Each was a media event.

But, this is the hard part; you can't use a parachute when landing on to the moon's surface because a parachute won't work when there is no air. Takeoffs and landings on earth are one thing; takeoffs and landings on the airless moon present another set of problems.

The big question is - how do you land on the moon?

Special Requirements

Moon landings require special equipment, special techniques, and no margin for error. A rocket landing on the moon is almost the exact reverse of a takeoff on earth. Picture a moving picture of a rocket taking off from earth - except in reverse. The moving picture would show a rocket plunging tailfirst toward the earth, at thousands of miles an hour. Then, at the precise moment it begins to fire its rockets to slow down. The lower the rocket the greater the blast until the speed of the rocket is precisely slowed from hundreds of miles per hour to zero the instant it touches ground. Touchy to say the least.

Weather conditions must also be taken into consideration. Dense atmospheres can upset firing calculations; wind storms might topple a descent; uneven landing areas; countless items could spell disaster.

The fact is, except for the TV and movies, I have never seen a movie claiming to show a space rocket landing tail first. I have seen "splashdowns". I have seen countless pictures of recent "space gliders" landing without power like ordinary aeroplanes, but, never have I seen a news broadcast of a space rocket descending on a column of fire and making a soft landing - which would be critical to the safety of its crew.

That isn't to say that they haven't been any such "retro-rocket" landings, I just haven't seen any. It would seem that it would be a media-event that politicians would love boast about - at the least to justify the spending of billions of tax-payers dollars on the project.

Doubting Thomases

No sooner had the moon event taken place than a handful of critics stepped forward to point out that in certain pictures supposedly taken on the moon, shadows of objects fall in different directions. Others mention the absence of stars in moon shots - only a coal black sky. In the absence of an atmosphere, stars are theoretically gigantic. Others mentioned that pictures taken in airless conditions should result in blinding white light - moon shots were like ordinary pictures taken on earth.

Such doubts were mentioned briefly at the time and after that brief mention were never debated or aired again on TV or the national media so far as I can remember.

Other Considerations

The original plan was to launch a rocket that was to establish a stable orbit around the moon which was to act as a platform from which still another rocket was to be launched which was to descend to the moon's surface.

Except for the original moon landing reports, I haven't heard of any such space platform circling the moon. Relatively recent attempts to establish a stable space platform circling Earth have met with countless problems - each of which have been reported in detail and have received abundant media coverage. But, I have seen no similar reports of difficulties in establishing a moon orbiting space platform.

Reservations

1) There is a media blackout directed against moon landing doubters. That in itself is worthy of comment.

2) Efforts to build space stations orbiting our own Earth have been plagued with problems and they still haven't gotten one working smoothly. But, the media tells us that back in 1969, America's space program established not only established an orbiting space station, but established it to circle the distant moon. It was a space station so stable that it was able to launch a smaller rocket that carried three men to the moon and retrieved it safely.

3) Judging from my TV, there appears to be no retro-rocket testing presently taking place. Further, I can remember no successful retro-rocket testing taking place in the now distant 1960s. How does one descend from a moon orbiting space station to the airless surface of the moon without using retro-rockets? Perhaps there is an answer, but the knowledgeable people I talk with don't know or just won't tell me.

Lastly, it's been almost four decades. The first landing was 1969 - the last 1973. There have been seven missions and we are told that 12 astronauts actually landed. In 1998 NASA gave up. President Bush now says that the US will launch a moon expedition in 2015. China says that they will try to put a man on the moon 20 years from now.

Why so long? Why not just repeat the process that put American astronauts on the moon in the first place. It must be fool-proof or they wouldn't have risked the lives of the 12 they sent there.

Conclusion

In 1935, I saw Flash Gordon land on the moon. In 1969, I saw the whole thing happen all over again. I had no doubts about the 1935 landing, and only a few in 1969. I thought surely there would be mining colonies established there by now. I even thought that other planets would be visited and maybe settled.

But, of course, I'm no longer 7 years old, and have even started questioning "9-11" and "weapons of mass destruction".

On DVD

People interested in the struggle of our Saxon nation to survive, current events, and the ongoing S. African bloodbath have ordered back issues of Hoskins Report Newsletters.

Often, today's censorship has caused the back issues to be the only source of such information. This ongoing demand has depleted our stock of many issues.

Our solution has been to convert back issues of Hoskins Report into book-form organized by the year; 2006, 2005, 2004, and so on.

Each book has been put on DVD diskettes which can be viewed on your computer and will consist of a year of twelve chapters with pages numbered from page 1 to 200-300 depending on the year.

Each DVD can be read on your computer like any other book; each will have a table of contents and an index.

In the index one can find whatever subject is being researched. A touch of the mouse takes you instantly to the desired page.

The titles to the yearly Hoskins Reports on DVDs are taken from one of the issues in that year.

They are easy to store, mail, are portable and can be available for use as tomorrow's events unfold.

The following containing a year's Hoskins Reports on DVD are now available:

2001 - How To Shoot A Pistol, $12;

2002 - Black Sniper, $12;

2003 - Iraq Attack, $12;

2004 - America Through Chinese Eyes, $12;

2005 - Hounds Of Hell, $24;

2006 - The 2nd Va Cav & Latham's Battery, $24

PTL raked in about $1 million a day. In 1987, it emerged that Jim Bakker had paid $265,000 hush money to a church secretary, Jessica Hahn, following their extramarital affair. It soon followed that Bakker had stolen more than $3 million and squandered donations on luxuries. Bakker was sentenced to 45 years in prison. Following their divorce in 1989, Tammy Faye became addicted to tranquilizers. In 1993 she married Roe Messner, a former business associate who was himself imprisoned for fraud 3 years later. CRIME REPORTING: Crime statistics in S. Africa are hopelessly under-reported because many victims do not report crimes, especially rape. The general consensus is that rapes are five times higher than reported. Everyone seems to forget that the present violent criminality was started by the ANC itself before 1994, when they actively encouraged necklacing atrocities (attaching a burning tire to a living victim), burning down schools and burning policemen alive in their homes, screaming "kill the Boer, kill the farmer." The government has "de-racialized" crime stats, to try and hide the identity of the true perpetrators. A time bomb is ticking. (Story in Citizen, July 6, 2007)

PERFECT MASTERS

Religion Of Death

Most Hindu Gods are black and most Hindu devils are white. When one dies he is immediately reborn in the body of an animal or even a God - depending on his deeds while living. Most Hindus believe that the extinction of all life on earth is necessary if this evil age is to end and a new-age of "goodness" is to be born. They believe that the existence of the white devil prevents this. Once the white devil is removed the present evil age will end with the extinction of life and a good new age will be born.

The Prime Directive

Each species has its own laws. Laws of species differ. Cows eat grass and lions eat meat. If lions can be taught to eat grass and cows taught to eat meat - both will die. If man can be made Lawless, he will die.

To bring about this condition, a prime directive was issued by India's King Asoka the Great (304 B.C. - 232 B.C.).

"One shall not condemn another religion or race by word or deed." King Asoka.

That's it! It's just that simple.

Toleration of other Gods is to tolerate their Laws. Man's Law states that if he tolerates other Gods - his own God will kill him.<sup>1</sup> A nation's birth rate is an indicator of its obedience. The laws of one alien nation in our midst addresses this directly.<sup>2</sup>

Buddhism

Asoka's "prime directive" needed a vehicle that would be accepted by peoples worldwide. He found it in the teachings of Buddha. Buddhism is a system of conduct and mind control. It advises against lying, cheating, and stealing, and advises its followers to obey their rulers, but it has nothing like the Biblical teachings of the doctrine of man, sin, salvation and the resurrection. It has no God.

Most Buddhist teachings are simple everyday common sense, and as such are considered by many to be the most moral of all teachings - next to Christianity.

Since Buddhism has no god, its teachings can be attached to any religion by a practice of mental self-discipline called "Yoga". Good moral instruction plus the admonition to obey one's ruler is received with open arms by rulers worldwide. When combined with the Prime Directive it destroys opposition to one's natural enemies and allows kings to increase their empires.

Dharma

The simple prime directive is called "Dharma". Any religion plus "Dharma" becomes HINDU.

King Asoka formalized Buddhism; he issued the "prime directive", and he organized teacher-missionaries called "Dharmamatras" to insert Dharma into the separate religions of the world.

He said;

"In the past there were no officers charged with spreading Dharma. I created these posts in the 13th year of my reign. These officers are commissioned to work with all sects in establishing and promoting Dharma." The Edicts of Asoka, Rock Edict V, p.58, Edicts Of Asoka, Trans. by N.A. Nikam & Richard Mckeon, Univ Chicago, 1959

Ecclesiastical Government

Dharmamatras were the invisible storm troops of Asoka's world empire - an empire created by mind- control.

Asoka's grandfather, a wealthy but militarily weak ruler, used Greek soldiers to conquer separatist rebel states in northern India. The Greeks were paid with the wealth looted from the rebel states they overran. When the Greeks accomplished their job they returned home after delivering the conquered states to their new ruler.

Besides the great wealth they had obtained, the Greeks left India infected with Dharma. Dharmamatras went with them. Upon arriving in the Greek lands they helped recreate the Greek Gods into "Greek-Hindu" Gods - all retaining their Greek names.

"King Antiochus (the Greek king) wrote to his whole kingdom, that all should be one people, And every one should leave his laws: so all the heathen agreed according to the commandment of the king. Yea, many also of the Israelites consented to his religion, and sacrificed unto idols, and profaned the sabbath.

"To the end thy might forget the law, and change all the ordinances. And whosoever would not do according to the commandment of the king, he should die. ... then many of the people were gathered unto them, to wit, every one that forsook the law...

And when they had rent in pieces the books of the Law which they found, they burnt them with fire. And whosoever was found with any book of the testament, or if any consented to the law, the king's commandment was, that they should put him to death." Macc 1:41-57.

Asoka's Bequest

Asoka's plan of world conquest was immediately successful because he financed it with everything he had. He bequeathed all his worldly wealth to the religious organization he worked for. The bequest reads in part;

"This earth enwrapped by the ocean in its glorious sapphire garment, this land whereof the face is adorned with many jewels and gems; this soil sustaining all creatures and Mount Madura ... all of this I bequeath to the Assembly of Saints." The Edicts of Asoka, N.A. Nikam & Richard McKeon, Univ Chic Press, 1959, p. 136

In this manner an unknowing world with all its peoples, including you and me, were given to a religious organization to rule.

Dharma Education

To train his "Dharmamatra" teacher-missionaries, King Asoka "transferred 1000 million gold pieces to the monastery of Kukkutarama and to their missionary work."<sup>3</sup>

These priests, vaguely known as "the Saints", were given the entire world. Their sole duty was to spread "Dharma" - "One shall not condemn another religion or race by word or deed."

Those selected to enter this elite group spent up to 15 years in their studies. They were taught the language, customs, and religion of the land where they were to be sent.

4 MAN - Heb: adam - those that blush rosy, Strong's Concordance; ("Son-of-man" - son of those who blush rosy).

They were given the temple's unlimited wealth with which to buy rulers and priests. In time, lands conquered by Dharma supported themselves and produced their own wealth through the imported monetary system called "usury".<sup>5</sup>

The result of teaching the Hindu prime directive that demands tolerance of things unlawful has caused man to close his eyes to God's LAW. Ignoring God's law blinds man to the cliffs in his path.<sup>6</sup>

The Trail Of The Dharmamatras

As soon as the Dharmamatras arrived in the West with Asoka's prime directive they immediately began tearing at the foundations of Christendom.

Nothing escaped their notice. When I was growing up, the following was the rule regarding children:

"He that spareth his rod hateth his son: but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes." Pr 13:24; "Chasten thy son while there is hope, and let not thy soul spare for his crying." Pr 19:18; "Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child; but the rod of correction shall drive it far from him." Prov 22:15."

---

5 USURY: A contract fraudulent in its conception - where a victim is persuaded to repay 11 items when only 10 of those items exist. Repayment can only be made by negotiating a new contract where an 11th item is borrowed and more collateral is required. History calls usury "the ultimate deception". It empties the countryside, creates both the city and super-state, and creates kings, police, taxes, hucksters, and a corrupt priesthood to protect the monopoly. A capital crime under Biblical law. (Ezek 18:13)

---

6 MAN - Heb: adam - those that blush rosy, Strong's Concordance; ("Son- of-man" - son of those who blush rosy).

Correcting Children

Older readers remember the time when the antics of my almost teenage daughter Rebecca made our family trip to New York miserable. 'Teen logic told her that having people around protected her from parental correction.

In the lobby of the Waldorf-Astoria she tried some outrageous shenanigan that was the straw that broke the camel's back. Right there I made her assume the position, and gave her the required number of whacks with my belt. After a moment of silence, onlookers applauded. She was good as gold for the rest of the trip.

New Dharmamatra taught laws would cause one's arrest for disciplining a disobedient child. We first tolerated dharma and now have dharma-law. Hindu reasoning isn't the same as ours,

"Hindu children are always treated with great respect and awe, for one does not always know who they are. They may be incarnations of a grandmother, grandfather, aunt or uncle, dearly beloved mother, sister, brother, respected father, a yogi or rishi returned to flesh to help humankind spiritually. ..."Subramuniyaswami, Sivaya: WWW. Hinduism Today

Evolution

Evolution is basic to Hinduism. In Virginia during the 1600s teaching evolution was banned. Today it is accepted as fact. If you believe evolution you can accept the following;

"The worm of today is the God of tomorrow." Swami Vive Kananda

Sodomites

Only a few years ago sodomites were as rare as hens' teeth. Now they are a protected species. The WORD says, "There shall be no ... sodomite of the sons of Israel." Deut 23:7; Dharmamatras bring a different law;

"Alone among the major world religions, Buddhism does not condemn homosexuality or premarital sex." The Alyson Almanac, Church Policies on Gay Concerns, pp 234-239.

The Quandary

The problem with obeying "Dharma's" prime directive, "One shall not condemn another religion or race by word or deed", is that in the process of being tolerant of other religions and races one must be tolerant of their Gods - and there are a lot of them. India alone has 200,000,000 gods. Each god has his own distinctive law system. This means that there are potentially 200,000,000 plus law systems in the world. The potential for chaos resulting from conflicting laws is unlimited. However, the Hindu solution was presented long ago.

The Perfect Master

Most people are too busy to find out all there is to know about Gods, so they rely on specialists. These specialists, in theory, spend their lives studying Gods and what is right and what is wrong. After this ordeal, they have made a careful selection of necessary laws gathered from the various Gods that will make lives better and easier. In India these people are called "Perfect Masters". They use different names in the West but their function is the same.

There are certain things that one must know. "In India the perfect Masters are referred to as Saints."<sup>7</sup>

Remember that Asoka turned the wealth of India over to "saints"? There's more we can learn about perfect Masters;

"Since all perfect Masters are sons of God and one with God it follows that this is true of the living perfect Masters of today. If we want God, we should seek him there; and if we want to worship God, we should worship Him in them. There is no other living form of God in the world today than the person of the perfect Master and consequently God cannot be worshipped directly here in any other way than by worshiping the Master."<sup>8</sup>

I really hope you understand and remember the above. The individual perfect Master has replaced God and is a God on earth whom we are to worship. There is no need for the Law of The WORD, the Law of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob when we have perfect Masters. In our lifetimes we have witnessed public policy concerning disciplining children, sodomites, and evolution change from the LAW of The WORD to the myriad laws of Hinduism. We know that the Dharma brought by Dharmamatras is initially to blame, but who teaches and spreads this blasphemy?

It is the perfect Master.

Who is this person?

He is the one whose opinions you see in the newspaper, hear on TV, read in the insider newsletter - he is the one who twists the thinking of children in college; who casually take the country to war - and who stands behind the pulpit on

Sunday and gives his opinion without proof from the Laws of God The WORD.

These pretended wise-men GIVE NO AUTHORITY FOR THEIR WISDOM. They expect people to believe what they say because they said it and that makes it so.

The perfect Master doesn't need the guidance of the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob because the speaker is a perfect Master. He has consulted the Gods, absorbed their wisdom, and is a God on Earth.

Conclusion

"Keep my commandments, and live." Pr 7:2; "He that keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." 1 Jo 2:4; "Turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?" Eze 33:11 land must find all this a great joy. No wonder Mandela's statue now stands in front of Parliament in London.

The black government of Zimbabwe destroyed the white farms and now the entire country is on the verge of starvation. Some of our neighbors took food to Zimbabwe's starving animals only to find their owners starving also.

It seems that at long last some institutions and churches have gotten together and now make regular trips to help starving elderly Rhodesian whites.

More Afrikaners are starting their own schools. We are thankful for that. It was the same after the Anglo-Boer war. Now, there are no Afrikaners in parliament to give us help.

DEATH PENALTY: The vast majority of Europeans disapprove of the death penalty practiced in the United States. This indicates the degree of Hindu influence present. Hindu-

Chapter 398

THE SERPENTS REACH

Law

People have Gods.

Gods have law systems.

A God's followers follow their God's law system.

Christendom has the WORD. "He showed his word unto Jacob, his statutes and his judgments unto Israel. He hath not dealt so with any nation: and as for his judgments, they have not known them." Ps 147:19-20

Where lawlessness rules - the teaching of the WORD is instantly controversial:

The Encyclopedia Britannica, 14th Edition, Vol 5, p. 635 reads:

"Very early, Christianity was conceived to be a new system of law."

The re-introduction of The WORD created no end of trouble for the many Gods of the Roman Empire and their many law systems. Christian law forbade having kings, usury, monopoly, and strangers in the land. If not suppressed it would have dissolved the Roman Empire. The Roman solution was to make their emperor a God and mediator over all the different religious law systems, including Christianity, and punish all who would not obey the emperor.

Modern day America has the same problem as did Rome. There are Biblical Law, Catholic Canon Law, Episcopal Canon Law, Jewish Talmudic Law, Islamic Sharia Law, State Law - which is called Hindu Trade Law or Admiralty Trade Law.

Which will rule?

Constitution Protected

Some have wondered why I seem casual about the protections provided by the Constitution. Many forget that Patrick Henry and many other greats of the Revolutionary Period were also skeptical about adopting the document as law - and for good reason. Here's what I found in The World Book, 1928.

Dartmouth

"In 1769 King George III signed a charter for Dartmouth College, named in honor of its chief patron. ..."

"Dartmouth College Case, was one of the most important cases ever decided by the Supreme Court of the United States. The court held that a charter granted by a state was a contract, and that any attempt by the state to alter it was unconstitutional, because 'no state shall ... pass any .... law impairing the obligation of contracts' (Constitution of the United States, Art. I, Sec. 10).

"The case arose from a religious and political struggle for the control of the college. The state legislature had amended the charter by adding eleven new trustees to outvote the old members of the board, but the latter, with Daniel Webster for attorney, carried the case to the Supreme Court. The decision was handed down by Chief Justice Marshall in 1819." (THE WORLD BOOK, VOL 3, p.1705, W.F. QUARRIE & CO, CHICAGO, 1928)

The above contract was made by Great Britain, before there was a United States, and before there was a Constitution. Yet, we find that we must obey laws and contracts that we had no hand in creating - and there are hundreds, if not thousands of other unknown private contracts that are binding on us to this day - contracts that are mysteries until the day they are enforced.

The Constitution

Let's take a peek at the Constitution and see how the case of West Virginia came about.

The Constitution reads;

"No new State shall be formed or erected within the Jurisdiction of any other State." Constitution Of The United States, Article IV, Section 3:

That seems clear. However, in 1861, when the War Between the States broke out, the Union army immediately invaded the western part of Virginia and declared it to be a separate state. They can't do that! - can they?

The Gift

Later I ran across the rest of the story;

"The British ministry between the years 1769 and 1774 had formulated very definite plans to take away all the territory of Virginia west of the tops of the Alleghany Mountains. ... the Walpole Company was to create a new province called Vandalia which was to cover practically almost the whole of the present state of West Virginia. ... the proclamation creating the Province of Vandalia had been prepared and was ready for public announcement by the king before the end of 1774. But, in the judgment of the privy council, the disturbed conditions of affairs in America, and especially in Virginia, rendered it unwise for the announcement to be made until quieter times should come. ..." Virginia's Mother Church, Vol II, George Maclaren Brydon, DD, 1952, p. 136. Also see (The Ohio Company of Virginia and the Westward Movement, pp. 237, et. seq.)

Well, that was what was done. The Charter was made between 1769 and 1774. In 1819, the United States Supreme Court declared that such private grants were legal and could not be tampered with. In 1861, the transfer was made and enforced by Lincoln's invading army. So, the Walpole Company got its Vandalia and named it "West Virginia".

The stripping away of West Virginia from Virginia is illegal according to the Constitution. It is not illegal according to the legal theory of private contracts confirmed by Chief Justice John Marshall's court in 1819.

Which Law?

All this raises a question; which law system did the transfer of Vandalia (W. Virginia) take place - under Biblical Law, Catholic Canon Law; Episcopal Canon Law; Jewish Talmudic Law; Islamic Sharia Law or State law which is called Hindu Trade Law or Admiralty Trade Law? Or, none of the above.

On the surface the answer is simple: it was the British king, the head of the Anglican Church who made the contract.<sup>1</sup>

Our forefathers met and put together a contract called The Constitution to satisfy the people. However, except for the "Hoorah!" - the contract was simply "eye-wash". The Constitution can and is twisted to enforce unknown contracts created by unknown people in bygone eras according to concealed law-systems - if sufficient force is available to make the change.

Simple Choice

People make fatal choices; groups, organizations and countries make fatal choices. The world is filled with the ruins of empires that self-destructed. What can one expect in a world filled with unknown contracts, plots, schemes, and

---

<sup>1</sup> This opens a can of worms. Does Anglican Canon Law recognize contracts made under Catholic Canon Law before there was Anglican Canon Law? Does Catholic Canon Law recognize contracts made under Greek and Hindu law before there was Catholic Canon Law? What are those contracts?

plans. Each is potentially a deadly land-mine. There is only one choice that has allowed man to survive, and it's not man-made - it's The WORD that was in the beginning. Obey and live - disobey and you will die.

"How long will you waver between two opinions? If the Lord is God, follow Him, but if Baal is God, follow Him." I Kings 18:21

The second critical point is derived from the first:

Only Two Races

Isaac had two sons, Jacob and Esau.

God said, "Jacob have I loved, but Esau have I hated." Ro 9:13; The WORD says "Esau hated Jacob ... and Esau said ... I (will) slay my brother Jacob." Ge 27:41.

Esau married strangers and his descendants spread their blood worldwide during their countless migrations. Esau's descendants invaded China, India and sent his merchant-traders through the furthest reaches of Africa. When one faces a Chinese, Indian, Black, Eskimo, or Jew, one sees only one race in its many guises - a mixed breed descendant of Esau - but always it is Esau.

Since The WORD states;

"A bastard (Heb: mamzêr - mixed breed, mongrel) shall not enter into the congregation of the Lord; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the Lord (Israel)." Deu 23:2

This means that there are two races on earth; the children-of-Jacob and the children-of-Esau - the very same Esau who swore that he would kill his brother Jacob.

The Result Of Disobedience

The WORD is the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The WORD instructed his people to have no dealings with the sons of Esau. Success comes only with obedience. Disobedience can be fatal:<sup>2</sup>

Germany's Honorary Aryan

Germany lost WWI. The German state was seized and dismembered. The sons-of-Esau swarmed in, divided its wealth and "privatized" it into the hands of international corporations.

The racial policy of Hitler's Germany was separation, or "repatriation". No integration - no friction. Germans who found themselves trapped in other countries due primarily to the conquest and division of Germany were returned to Germany and aliens living in Germany were repatriated to their own people. In this way Germans were returned from Eastern Europe and Slavs were returned to Slavic lands and Jews were sent to Palestine.<sup>3</sup>

However, there were certain Jews who, because of their proclaimed expertise in certain fields, were allowed to remain in Germany as "honorary Aryans". One such was Erhard Milch.

Field-Marshal Erhard Milch

The following was extacted from the Wickipedia:

"Milch was born in Wilhelmshaven to a Jewish father and a German mother ...."

---

<sup>2</sup> "When (Israel) departed from the way which God appointed them, they were destroyed." Judeth 5:18

"Following the defeat of France, Milch was promoted to field-marshal (Generalfeldmarschall) and given the title Air Inspector General. Milch was put in charge of the production of planes during this time, and his many mistakes were key to the loss of German air superiority as the war progressed. Due to changing the designs and aircraft requirements frequently, manufacturers like Messerschmitt were unable to focus on aircraft output. Germany produced fewer than 5,000 planes during 1942, whereas Russia increased its aircraft production to over 40,000, leading to a change of superiority on the Eastern Front." Wikipedia

Over the opposition of some of Germany's greatest combat pilots, Milch chose the Focke Wolf 190 as the standard German fighter over the vastly superior and revolutionary Messerschmidt 262, a heavily armed jet fighter, 100-150 mph faster than anything the allies were able to develop during the entire war. In the opinion of many, if the Me 262 jet had been chosen earlier instead of the FW 190, Germany would have won the war. The question will always be asked - was Milch's choice a simple mistake, or was it the eternal instinct of Esau to destroy Jacob.

Hitler's choosing a son-of-Esau to lead the Luftwaffe cost Germany the war and Hitler his life.<sup>4</sup>

George Lincoln Rockwell

In the 1950s, while I was working for the Defenders, I drove to Newports News to see Bill Stephenson, the remarkable young editor of a conservative monthly newspaper called "The Virginian".

---

While visiting, a tall quiet man walked through the room carrying an armfull of papers. Bill introduced us. His name was Lincoln Rockwell.

After he had gone on about his business, Bill informed me that Rockwell had commanded a Navy squadron of Aircraft during WWII and had received 9 decorations. He was strongly anti-communist, as were most people at that time, but the establishment ignored his existence and wouldn't let him speak. He was working at Bill's newspaper to learn the business.

The next time I heard of Lincoln Rockwell, he, and a few followers, were front-page news dressed-up in National Socialist uniforms. He had gotten on a soap-box somewhere in competition with a half-dozen other groups and his Nazi uniform was an attention grabber. He also had a body-guard around him whom he called his "storm troopers". These fellows would fight you at the drop of a hat if you were looking for a fight - and the red-front was always looking for a fight. The newspapers loved it.

His act got all the media attention. He was headlined as a real "crazy". People flocked to see the "crazy" decked out in a Nazi uniform.

Back then, while the country was anti-communist, the colleges favored pro-communist speakers to satisfy the demands of their corporate donors. To appear "even-handed" they invited an occasional right-winger. Lincoln Rockwell became a regular speaker on the college circuit.

Rockwell came to Lynchburg. The papers hammered the "Nazi" thing and the city armory was the only place in town large enough to hold all the people who wanted to see what a real live Nazi looked like.

Introductions were made, and a tall, well-groomed young man strode on stage. He was dressed in a double-breasted suit with a General MacArthur style pipe. His manner was calm and pleasant, his talk reasoned, and the audience gave him a standing ovation when he was finished. Rockwell had discovered an entryway into the world ruled by the cartel. He spoke at colleges all over the country.

To increase his personal following, Rockwell inlisted sons-of- Esau. A John Patler joined. He was formerly Yanacki Patsalos of Greek ancestry. Once in, he attempted to organize a coup against "blue eyed devils". Rockwell got rid of him.

Patler hid in ambush and assassinated Rockwell August 25, 1967. He received a short prison sentence and was paroled Aug 19, 1975.

"Lest they ... turn again and rend you." Matt 7:6

Hendrik Frensch Verwoerd (1901-1966)

Dr. Verwoerd was an intellectual, an accomplished writer and editor of "Die Transvaler" before becoming prime minister.

In 1958, as prime minister of South Africa, he helped enact the "Black Self-Government Act" to help black "Self-Development". He was also responsible for establishing colleges for the ongoing black "Homelands" project which had been started by the British back in 1910. It was all part of the "Separate Development" ideal that had taken hold in most Western countries.

The "Homelands" project was intended to allow the 7 different races of blacks in S. Africa to govern themselves. On May 31, 1961, Verwoerd led S. Africa out of the British Empire and formed a Republic. The British Empire looked on this as sedition and financed and helped train every anti-white South African conspiracy from that time on.

South Africa had changed since the Boer War. The indomitable Boer fighters who remained quietly faded away after their self-sufficient farms and flocks that had supported their families were destroyed by the British. Most were forced to work in towns which quickly grew into cities - like the American Southland.

International businesses, factories, and corporate farms took over. South African colleges became dependent on corporate and government grants and taught the ways of the sons-of-Esau to the children-of-Jacob. Alien corporations imported cheap black labor from the rest of Africa. By the millions they were imported to work in alien owned mines and factories and to compete with white labor.

A new affluent management class of whites rose who owed their wealth and status to these alien interests. To keep their positions, they gave them their allegiance - everyone except the working class whites and a handful of white intellectuals who had the wisdom to see their country being drowned in a sea of color. Verwoerd was one of these. He and his followers steadily led his country away from the smothering grasp of the International Trade Cartel.

On Sept 6, 1966, Verwoerd was stabbed to death by Dimitri Tsafendas, a parliamentary clerk of mixed Greek-mulatto ancestry. As incredible as it sounds - most Sons-of-Jacob living in South Africa were unable to identify a son-of-Esau who wasn't black. The murderer escaped death by using the insanity defense. The charge of "paid-assassin" was rejected by the court and Tsafendas has since been released - as is usual in these cases.

If separate "self-determination" for whites had been enforced as strongly as it was for black sons-of-Esau - one of them could not have been there to murder him.

The Order

Robert Jay Mathews (1953-1984) organized "The Order", with 7 members, on his farm in 1983. It's stated purpose "We must secure the existence of our people and a future for white children."

Like the Jewish revolutionaries in Poland in the 'teens before the Russian Revolution, they planned to take money from establishment sources to fund operations. Their targets were armored cars and banks. They also counterfeited money. Their income was given to "above" and "underground" organizations similar to Irish Republican Army operations. Each member received a nominal income with a large part distributed to distressed farmers.

Bob Mathews recruited Tom Martinez who betrayed him. Mathews was surrounded in his cabin on Whidby Island by up to 500 FBI agents who burned him alive. The date was Dec 8, 1984. Martinez later went on a nation-wide roadshow with Morris Dees of the Southern Poverty Law Center.

Robert J. Mathews' association with strangers cost him his life and the freedom of his followers.

Conclusion

Ghengis Khan and Joseph Stalin, both sons-of-Esau, are said to have been gentle and personable when it suited their purpose. When it didn't - they killed millions of the sons-of-Jacob.

There is no way to tell if a Black, Chinese or Indian son-of-Esau is actually the mild, reasonable, personable person that Esau's media and agents tell us they are. They could very well be another reincarnation of their fore-father who swore, "I will slay my brother Jacob."?

To be safe, one should first obey The WORD:

"If ye love me obey my commandments". John 14:15

And,

To stay safe one should note those who don't.

TAINTED BLOOD: A few years ago one of my children needed a transfusion. Family members lined up as volunteer donors. The doctors refused their blood because the hospital rule was that blood had to be sent 50 miles away to be processed before being administered. One had to take the blood stored on hand or do without.

It is now reported that stored blood loses some of its ability to deliver oxygen to the body, making transfusions dangerous. As soon as donated blood leaves the body, Duke University researchers found, it starts losing nitric oxide, a blood gas that opens small blood vessels and helps distribute oxygen. (The WEEK, p.20, Oct 26, 2007)

RKH: In the '30s, Dad made house calls. If a patient needed blood, Dad would find a family member with the right blood type and give the transfusion right there at home. I never heard of his ever having a problem with the transfusions. We've got a lot to re-learn.

IRAQ PUZZLE SOLVED

Iraq

The Iraqi tale has come together like pieces of a puzzle. Only one or two pieces are needed to complete the picture.

Iraq is a "country" - a NEW country carved from the Ottoman Empire by the victors of WWI.<sup>1</sup>

Three hostile groups - Kurds, Sunnis, and Shites - were bundled together and politicians drew a political border about them. Forcing hostile groups together causes strife. Strife requires a strong government to keep the peace.

Strong central governments are led by a strong-man who has sufficient money to equip an army strong enough to control the rest of the countries' inhabitants. The one furnishing the money to the strong-man is the king-maker and the actual ruler. Most countries are created in this manner - as potential powder-kegs - so that a strong ruler can be installed to rule them. Iraq is no exception.

Other Near East countries created from the Ottoman Empire along the same lines were Palestine, Transjordan, Lebanon and Syria. Each was destabilized by integrating hostile elements within their borders, and each requires a strong government with a strong army and a rich king-maker standing unseen in the background.

The Suez Canal

An interesting piece of the puzzle is the Suez Canal. The Suez Canal is a profitable operation. It allows ships to quickly go from the Orient to Europe without having to sail the long route around Africa. Naturally, there is a hefty fee for ships using the canal's shorter route.

In the late-nineteenth century, European interests bought the canal from a spendthrift Egyptian ruler. After WWII, Egypt seized the Canal and claimed its fees as its own.

Immediately, the injured parties, England, France and Israel, mobilized an invasion force to retake the Canal. The U.S. stepped in and forbade the invasion. This permitted Egypt to keep the income from the Canal while denying that same income to Europe. Egypt became financially independent overnight.

Saudi Arabia's Oil

Another piece of the puzzle is Saudi Arabia. Saudi Arabia was also carved from the Ottoman Empire. Its basic assets were sand, camel drivers, and Western owned oil wells.

Saudi Arabia seized the oil wells. The United States quietly acquiesced, which was strange, considering that the U.S. was strong enough to have rounded up every Arab living there along with their camels and sent the lot to the North Pole.

Instead, it let them keep the oil income - thereby depriving Westerners the benefits derived from that income.

Overnight, "dirt-poor" Saudi Arabia became "super-rich". So rich, in fact, that she finances whatever happens in the Arab world and has enough left over to buy controlling interests in major American banks. Just so it is perfectly clear - the oil money that would have benefited the people of the West was given to Esau instead.

Abu Dhabi

Another piece: Abu Dhabi is on the coast of eastern Arabia. Until the middle of the 19th-century its main occupation consisted of camel trading, picking dates, growing vegetables at oases and fishing and pearl diving in season. Its people lived in huts made of palm fronds and the wealthy lived in mud huts.

In 1958 oil was found.

In 1971, the United Kingdom announced its withdrawal and turned the oil wealth over to the desert children of Esau - wealth that had been destined to benefit the people of Great Britain. Now, instead of palm frond shelters and mud huts - banks, boutiques and modern high-rises stand.

Several nearby Arab tribes agreed to form their own little enclaves. This done, they united into what is called the United Arab Emirates. Thus far, the borders of this brand new country still have not been definitely decided upon.

Abu Dhabi has now grown into a city, the richest city per capita in the world. The average citizen's worth is estimated at $17 million dollars. Also, the city has formed an investment corporation which owns assets all over the world.

Citigroup is the largest US bank and the largest corporation in the world measured by assets. It has been particularly hard hit by the deflation of the US housing market. To provide a temporary solution, the bank arranged a deal with the Abu Dhabi Investment Authority (ADIA). In exchange for $7.5 billion, Citigroup will exchange equity units convertible into shares in the company within the next four years. At the end of the period, ADIA will be the largest single shareholder of Citigroup, with up to 4.9 percent ownership.

ADIA's share of Citigroup will then exceed that of the current largest shareholder, Prince Al Waleed bin Talal of Saudi Arabia, who purchased 3.6 percent of the company at the time of its last major financial crisis in 1991.

For those who may be a bit slow with puzzles - this lets Esau control the largest bank in the U.S., which means, the children-of-Jacob who are the bank's debtors are Esau's servants.<sup>2</sup>

Kosovo

We next move to Europe. Long ago Islam invaded Serbia and a great battle was fought between Muslims and Christians. The Muslims won and occupied Kosovo.

Kosovo had been part of Yugoslavia. When Yugoslavia began to disintegrate, Kosovian Orthodox-Christians attempted to drive away the Islamic invader population and re-take the country for themselves.

On the orders of America's president, the U.S. stepped in. It didn't step in to help its kindred Christian peoples; instead, the American air force, with the passive endorsement of the European Union, allied itself with the Muslims to attack the Christians! The US air force hammered Christian Yugoslavia for weeks until the Slavs in effect agreed to let the Muslims have Kosovo. Then, the US-EU put Serbian Christians on trial for crimes against the Muslim invaders of Kosovo!

This makes an interesting situation. Christians fighting Christians to save Muslims from being driven from a Christian country which they had invaded and occupied - and this took place at the very time the U.S. was waging war against the Muslims in the Middle East. There has to be a reason.

Muslim Conquests

Long ago, Mohammed declared Jihad (holy war) against non-believers. Obediently, Arab men left their families and children and joined armies which swept out the deserts of Arabia and overran the Middle East, Syria, Egypt, North Africa, Spain, Turkey, India, the Eastern Roman empire of Constantinople, and much of Russia and S. Eastern Europe before reaching the end of their resources and settling into their conquests.

Most of Esau's conquests were lands which had formerly been the possessions of Jacob. Millions died. Islam then seemed to settle into a deep sleep. There is a reason for this seeming "deep sleep".

Janissaries

Deception is inbred in the Children-of-Esau. They use deception to conquer enemies and to oppress each other.<sup>3</sup>

Because of this inborn trait, Esau distrusts everyone, including each other. This distrust causes groups within their society to circle their wagons to protect themselves and their possessions from hostile groups of their own kind. Thus, while the world of Esau often appears to sleep, and at times appears to stand still, the slightest dislocation can start a chain reaction of violence that can take centuries to regain a motionless, watchful, status-quo.

Islamic rulers attempted to solve this problem of perpetual distrust and hostility among their own people by kidnaping, purchasing, and receiving as tribute children-of-Jacob. These children were raised and trained by Muslims and taught the Koran. The theory was that since they were basically honest they would continue being honest if placed in positions of authority in Islam.

The result surpassed expectations. These children grew up and were placed in positions of authority and Islam began to let down its guard and stir once again. These Christian converts, called "Janissaries", formed Islam's most aggressive fighting force. Under their direction great Islamic fleets were built, turning the Mediterranean into an Islamic Sea. England's seaside towns were raided on a regular basis.

Islam's tax money was handled efficiently and in time these Janissaries ruled the Ottoman Empire down to the most minute detail.

One morning, the ruler of Islam ordered their extermination. Thousands died.<sup>4</sup>

Modern Janissaries

Our forefathers have fought Esau's every attempt to continue their invasion of Western lands. To regain momentum, Esau was forced to change tactics and reactivate the Janissary system that had served her so well in the past. Their mulahs are well aware that the WORD says;

"The love of money is the root of all evil." I Ti 6:10;<sup>5</sup>

Putting this truth to the test, Esau recruited Western renegades as partner-agents to establish and front for Esau's great corporate trade operations. These great corporations were created and continuously expanded from the increase gained from the usury charged by their banks.<sup>6</sup>

In Lynchburg, the old First National Bank building still has engraved on its front: Established 1865 - the year we were conquered. These newly established banks lent money to land owners desperate for money to pay the new land-taxes installed by the occupation government of our conquerors. New tariffs destroyed the old markets for farm products and now making money became virtually impossible for many. The result was that land went into default and was bought at tax sales by land-corporations for virtually nothing. Many others were foreclosed by the banks.

Media

<sup>6</sup> USURY: A contract fraudulent in its conception - where a victim is persuaded to repay 11 items when only 10 items exist. Repayment can only be made by negotiating a new contract where an 11th item is borrowed and more collateral is required. A capital crime under Biblical law. (Ezek 18:13)

oly since they received "advertising" from Esau's corporations. Local competing newspapers were denied "advertising" and failed.

Politicians must have media exposure to be elected. Janisary-operated newspapers select candidates to publicize those who are willing to work for Esau. In this way, America and her armed forces became Esau's agents.

The Corporation

Virginia was started as a commerical venture with money provided by a number of private English investors.

Times were difficult. There were Indian wars and a starvation time that destroyed most of the colony, but when it became apparent that Virginia was a success, the king of England took over. The king represented a corporation called The Crown. Today, the Crown and its corporations having other names have interests worldwide. In England, entire towns are owned by "private" interests.

Today, when an entrepreneur develops a successful business and it reaches a net worth of $20,000,000 or so - it is bought by a larger corporation - or - the smaller company begins to have trouble getting loans, or its market suddenly disappears. Most small companies wisely allow themselves to be bought by large corporations.

The original purpose of a corporation was to conceal ownership and confer special benefits.

The WORD teaches that the individual Saxon and his wife constitute the basic unit - separate from all others of his kind. The Law system he lives under is the WORD, Sons-of-Esau are different. They naturally form groups with a strong-man as their leader-spokesman. Groups in turn join together with a strong-man as their leader. The word of these strong-man leaders is law. The groups act as a natural corporation. Their business is conducted in the same manner.

One does not do business with an Indian or Chinese merchant - he does business with a representative of India or a representative of China. That businessman has the weight of entire nations of Esau behind him. An ignorant Saxon merchant can quickly get in over his head.

South Africa

South Africa's self-sufficient-farm-system was destroyed by the British Empire just as the American self-sufficient farm system was destroyed by the invading American Armies and by the occupation government they imposed followed The War Between the States.

To secure employment, most survivors of the war were forced to work for corporations. The income they received from these corporations made it possible for them to buy their daily bread. When a man is dependent for his daily bread for himself and his family - he becomes reluctant to do or say anything that will jeopardize his employment. He has become a "wage-slave" who is inclined to parrot the opinion of his employer to safe-guard his job. This is why the the WORD says "Thou shalt not have a stranger to rule over thee." It makes sense, think about it.

Esau's agent, Great Britain, sent her armies to first destroy white South Africa's self-sufficient farm system, forcing them to work for Esau's corporations. Becoming a wage-slave allowed Esau to capture their minds.

Most of South Africa's white politicians, religious and business leaders worked for Esau's corporations, or were dependent in some way on those who did. The result - when told to do so - they turned their entire nation over to blacks to be ruled.<sup>7</sup>

The Book

A white insider, P.J. Pretorius, wrote a book called Volksverrad. This book disclosed that everyone of importance was involved in betraying white S. Africa, excepting a few. His book concluded, "They were all guilty! All of them!"

The lesson - we should work for ourselves if at all possible. If you work for Esau's corporation-cloaked businesses you will tend to become their servant to protect your income. In S. Africa, our own people were ordered to turn themselves over to blacks - and they did.

Thus far, S. Africa has lost almost a quarter of her white population and the survivors are being killed daily.

Last Pieces Of The Iraqi Puzzle

Esau uses an ancient system of making war called The 36-Strategies. They were listed in Hoskins Report #365.

<sup>7</sup> "Thou shall make no covenant with them ... they shall not dwell in thy land, lest they make thee sin against me." 1 Ki 4:21-24; "The Lord said ...Israel hath sinned ... neither will I be with you any more, except ye destroy the accursed from among you." Josh 7:10-13

America's politicians are elected by Esau's media. They do as they are told or they will not be re-elected. These politicians used 9/11 as the excuse to invade Iraq - to destroy their "weapons of mass destruction" - a phantom created for us to fight.

While the media rivets our attention on Iraq, almost none of our media-elected leaders - local, state, or national - will acknowledge that Esau has launched armies of Hispanics to invade America, and at the same time, armies of tens of millions of Muslims have occupied practically every city in Western Europe.

While searching for the phantom weapons of mass destruction in Iraq - Esau's armies occupied the lands of Jacob without a shot being fired.

9/11 and Iraq were both phantoms - invented to detract our attention from the real points of attack - the heartlands of Europe and America.

The successful use of the 36-Strategies is supposed to bring the perfect victory. "The greatest victory is the victory gained without battle."

But, Esau's victory is not complete: the puzzle has a place for a piece in the middle. Until that place is filled - the war isn't over, and it appears that Esau has taken on more than he can handle:

God said; "Jacob have I loved but Esau have I hated."
Romans 9:13

The WORD also says:

"And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will give unto Gog a place there of graves in Israel." Eze 39:11

As for Esau's servants - the Janissaries in our midst - history has a way of repeating itself - one way or another.

Dear Mr. Hoskins; Because of the industrial activity across the road from our farm we have moved to town. Before we left we had to come to terms with the black who worked the garden. Under black rule blacks can't be fired, and this one had taken to saying that "this isn't my job", or, "that isn't my job", so that he hardly did any work at all. Hans gave him two weeks salary and R1,000 and got him to sign a letter to the effect that he left of his own free will.

You are so right, our people are not made for towns - especially since it seems that the entire black population of Africa is arriving here to escape their own black ruled countries. All services are flooded. There is little work, so they steal from everyone around them.

We got the same security firm the previous owner had. In an emergency they will react. Now, if there is an emergency there will be some sort of help available. The black police are utterly useless and their emergency telephones are almost always off the hook.

We have developed a way of speaking to the white liberals who are responsible for the poor treatment given our old white people and white orphans. We say "Good day comrade", branding them a communist. If they think blacks will spare their lives they have a false hope.

The present garden needs much more work. The manure they had been using came from the sewage plant - it causes infection. We use cattle manure.

The black army fired a cannon without removing the cover from the barrel. It exploded and a number were killed. These things are happening because they have gotten rid of every good white soldier.

Our best, K.J.
